U.N. Opens Debate on Red China

Await Italy Plan To Settle Problem

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The annual General Assembly debate on admission of Red China to the United Nations opens today amid forecasts that Peking will be kept out for at least another year.

Cambodia, a sponsor of the resolution proclaiming the Communist mainland regime as the only lawful representative of China, was expected to open the two-week discussion with a demand that the Chinese Nationalists be ousted and the Communist regime given China's U.N. seat.

Support Growing

Diplomats said Italy would spell out a formula for settling the 16-year-old China problem on the basis of "political realities."

They said support was growing for the Italian plan, described as a maneuver which eventually would give Peking the China seat and let the Nationalists stay, as representatives of Formosa.

Nationalist China's chief delegate, Liu Chieh, told The Associated Press this week that his government still opposes any two-China deal.

"If we were to accept the idea of two Chinas, we would be accepting the division of my country and, in effect, perpetuating this division," he said.

The resolution is cosponsored by Albania, Algeria, Cuba, Congo (Brazzaville), Guinea, Mali, Pakistan, Romania and Syria. It asks that the assembly recognize representatives of the Red Chinese government "as the only lawful representatives of China to the United Nations" and demands that it "expel

Appellate Division May Designate New Jurist; Ruling Given Before Testimony

An appeal of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni of Tillson, foster parents of four and a half year old Beth, from a custody ruling of Ulster County Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn was dismissed before noon today by justices of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York State.

A representative of the appellate court staff told The Freeman:

Notes Relationship

"The appeal was dismissed because of the disqualification of the judge of the Family Court as related to the respondent Commissioner of Public Welfare, Joseph Fitzsimmons, within the prohibited degree of affinity. The case has been remanded for a hearing before a judge to be designated either by the Appellate Division or the administrative judge of the district, Supreme Court Justice Russell G. Hunt."

It was indicated that a formal order will follow the decision of the Appellate Court.

The action by the State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, according to an Associated Press report out of Albany, means there will be a new hearing concerning adoption of Elizabeth St. John.

The Appellate Division announcement was made before the court had heard any testimony in the Liuni appeal.

The appeal of Beth's foster parents, from a custody ruling of Ulster County Family Court was scheduled for hearing at 10 a. m. today before Chief Justice James Gibson and Associate Justices Felix J. Aulisi, J. Clarence Herlihy, Walter B. Reynolds and Donald S. Taylor.

Was 4th on Calendar

The case was the fourth on the calendar for today session of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York State.

Adopt Plan For Taxes Of Elderly

Approve Prisoner Transfer Program

Ulster County Board of Supervisors in special session Thursday night rescinded certain powers which it had earlier delegated to the Board of Trustees of The Ulster County Community College and selected Albert E. Milliken, Kingston architect, as the architect for Phase II. The college now is under construction at Stone Ridge.

Under a resolution adopted earlier this year, the board had delegated the power of selecting an architect to the trustees with a suggestion that a local architect be engaged "if possible."

Adopt Local Law

Called in special session Thursday night the board also adopted Local Law 1, which will give certain citizens 65 years of age and older a 50 per cent reduction in taxes, and authorized a contract with the Albany Penitentiary and the Orange County jail officials for care of local prisoners in a move to eliminate the overcrowded condition at the Ulster County jail.

When the college trustees selected a New York architect as the prime architect and a New Paltz man as associate, board members objected. Later the college trustees suggested that in the event the New York and New Paltz selection proved unsatisfactory to the supervisors, that William H. van Benschoten, Hutton and Mayer be considered.

Rescind Resolution

By resolution offered by Supervisor James Rapp (R), First Ward, the board last night rescinded the resolution giving the college trustees power to select an archiect and by a vote of 20 to 11, chose Milliken. Supervisor John J. Lucci (D), Fifth Ward broke from party lines and voted with the Republicans. Absent were Supervisors Robert F. Phinney, 11th Ward Republican and Bowman Owen, Hardenburgh Republican.

Stoutly defending the college trustees in their action was Democratic Supervisor and Minority Leader, Roger W. Mabie of Esopus who called it a "black night in the annals of the board of supervisors." Mabie first challenged the legality of the Rapp resolution. He said this matter had been referred to the Building Committee. No report had been received from the Building Committee. In fact the committee had not met or "taken any action" nor had it made any recommendation, Mabie said. He called for a ruling on the legality of the Rapp resolution on the grounds that the matter was still in committee.

County Attorney Abram Molyneaux ruled that the Rapp reso-

Blaze Sweeps Fla. Marina, Losses High

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A wind-whipped blaze that shot flames high into the air and leaped from one luxury yacht to another destroyed about a dozen expensive seacraft at a river marina today.

Treat 3 for Burns

Dozens of other boats were damaged. Authorities said about 12 — including a 100-footer — burned to the waterline.

Three persons fled a yacht and were treated at a hospital for burns.

As many as 50 firefighters battled the flames, which raged out of control for three hours.

"It was one of the worst fires I've ever seen, but we couldn't see anyone on the boats," said Lt. Jim Brown of the Fort Lauderdale Fire Department, an 11-year veteran of firefighting.

"What made it bad was that gasoline tanks caught fire," he said.

Seen Six Miles Away

At times, flames could be seen six miles away.

The fire erupted shortly after midnight at the Broward Marina, where wealthy northern yachtsmen keep their craft during the winter months. The marina is on the south fork of the New River.

Although some owners use the yachts as their winter homes, fire and police officials said they doubted that anyone was on board. Some of the boats were in the marina for repairs.

Damage could not be estimated at once, but was expected to be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The cause of the fire was not known.

Fort Lauderdale Fire Chief M. T. Whidny said at least 16 boats were either completely burned or heavily damaged.

"It was burning all over when we got there," he said.

Big as Football Field

In a matter of minutes, luxury yachts moored under a central shed in the big marina were enveloped in flames. At times, the blaze was as big as a football field, witnesses said.

One witness said he saw one of the central shed supports crash down on a boat.

"It looked like a big lighted cigar sticking out of a charred ash tray," he said.

Two men aboard the yacht Feather — identified as Walter Grey and Irnost Burgeniester — fled the craft in their undershirts and sought refuge in a police car.

Return 3 Open Indictments in Narcotic Cases

Three indictments were returned by the October Grand Jury in a partial report to Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn Thursday afternoon. After reporting the members of the Grany Jury were instructed to resume their deliberations.

The indictments, all open, are:

Michael Bogdan and Chris Lawrence, possession of a narcotic drug as a felony and possession of a hallucinogenic drug.

Gilbert James Carpenter Bruce Dion Goff and Stephen M. Kulback, possession of a narcotic drug as a felony and possession of a hallucinogenic drug.

Stephen M. Kulback, possession of a narcotic drug as a misdemeanor.

The cases were moved by District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca to County Court for disposition.

Works, Talks, Celebrates

President Feels Great But Soreness Remains

WASHINGTON AP—President Johnson got a go-ahead from his doctors today to check out of the hospital Saturday and fly to his Texas ranch to recuperate.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said the surgeons who operated on Johnson two days ago "are very satisfied with the President's recuperative progress" and that they are "quite pleased" that he was heading for the ranch to relax in the sunshine.

On the second full day after his double operation, Johnson still complained of soreness, however.

Routine Recovery

The White House said the President fell asleep about midnight — even before finishing his usual stack of evening reading — and did not awaken until almost 8 a.m. For him that was a late hour.

Before wading into some department reports, Johnson moved to a chair for a tray breakfast of melon balls, apple juice, chipped beef and tea.

The President's recovery so far has been routine — so much so that the latest White House statement on his progress contained no information of a medical nature.

Although Johnson said Thursday night he was "sore as if I was beat by a baseball bat" he's been working, talking — even celebrating.

Still Progressing

Thursday night's medical bulletin said "he's still pro-

Bids Rocky Delay Public Hearing on Ulster Arterial

Calling the plan for the Kingston Arterial route through the Town of Ulster "totally unsatisfactory" the Ulster Business Men's Association has appealed to Gov. Rockefeller to postpone any public hearing on the project until such time as the State Department of Public Works and the township officials have been given ample opportunity to make a complete investigation.

Recently the Public Works Department submitted a revised plan for the Arterial Route through the Town of Ulster just north of Kingston. That revised plan changes to some extent the interchange at Shop-Rite Square where there is a provision made for connection with old 9W. Nothing was changed to provide a connection with old 9W at the northerly end for entrance to the shopping areas along old Route 9W. Traffic coming from the north would have to come south to the Shop-Rite Square interchange and then proceed north again to the shopping areas near the Route 209 overpass at the bridge circle.

Business people in the Town of Ulster seek to have this condition corrected by providing for some type of access to Old Route

Defends Law Banning Red Membership for Teachers

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York State officials have defended before the Supreme Court a state law that bars state university teachers from membership in the Communist Party "because the state has a right to protect itself against disloyalty."

That statement was made to the court Thursday by Miss Ruth V. Iles, an assistant attorney general. The state's position also was supported by John C. Crary Jr. of the State University of New York.

The state "has a right to protect itself against disloyalty," Miss Iles said, "under terms of a statute known as the Feinberg Law."

This marks the second time the nation's highest court has examined the controversial New York State law. In 1952, the Feinberg Law was upheld by the justices. Since then, however, the law's anti-subversion provisions were extended to include state college and university teachers and staff members. Previously, the law treated only school instructors.

In recent cases, the Supreme Court has thrown out the so-called loyalty oaths. It has ruled that governing bodies may in-

10-Mile Stretch Bombarded

Warships Renew Drive To Cut Flow to South

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warhips bombarded cargo vessels along a 10-mile stretch of North Viet Nam today in a renewal of the 7th Fleet's new campaign to cut the seaborne flow of Communist supplies to the South.

The Navy reported 26 cargo boats destroyed or damaged in the bombardment by two destroyers ranging 20 to 30 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

Fire Over 250 Rounds

The Navy said the destroyers John R. Craig and Hamner fired more than 250 rounds of five-inch shells at supply craft both on the beach and in the water.

The U.S. command reported only small and scattered ground action in South Viet Nam, while ported a series of Viet Cong harassing attacks with mortars and mines that ranged from one end of the country to the other.

One sabotage attack set off a four-hour fire and a series of explosions in a U.S. ammunition dump near Saigon, but a U.S. military spokesman said damage was light and there were no casualties.

On the political front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky announced six changes in the civilian cabinet in an effort to end the eight-week-old dispute between southern cabinet ministers and northerners dominating the ruling military junta. Reports of friction persisted after a stormy meeting of top leaders Thursday night, and further changes were thought likely.

Weather Cuts Air Strikes

For the seventh day in a row, monsoon rains and generally poor weather cut heavily into U.S. air strikes Thursday against North Viet Nam. U.S. pilots flew only 52 missions, about one third the average during good weather.

U.S. military sources said the North Vietnamese are taking advantage of the foul weather to rush repairs of roads, bridges and rail lines.

Commence Jury Selection Today In Rickard Case

Raymond G. Rickard Jr., Brooklyn seaman, went on trial Thursday afternoon for the alleged murder of 2½-year-old Victor Rossiello at a Lake Katrine trailer in November 1964. The 37-year-old former instrument technician, formerly of Brooklyn, was returned to Ulster County last June from Madras, India, where he was apprehended when a vessel on which he had shipped out arrived in port.

Selection of a jury began in County Court Thursday afternoon before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. Francis Martocci and former City Judge Joseph Saccoman appear by assignment of the court for defendant.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Rossiello, 37, also of Brooklyn, mother of the boy, is being held as a material witness in the case.

Rickard is charged with first degree murder. It is charged in the indictment that in November of 1964, he caused the death of the 2½-year-old son of Mrs. Rossiello and then placed the body in a seabag and threw it from the Kingston-Rhinecliff

Report New Flooding in Po Valley

ROVIGO, Italy (AP) — A dozen villages in the southernmost Po delta were evacuated hurriedly during the night as the waters of the stormy Adriatic sea backed up over thousands of acres of farmland. Dikes guarding dozens of other villages were threatened.

A total of 10,000 delta residents now have been taken to higher ground, but hundreds of stubborn villagers and truck farmers clung to their homes and lands despite impassioned official warnings.

Must Leave Again

Most of the 5,000 inhabitants of the towns of Scardovari and Bonelli were evacuated hurriedly Thursday, having returned to their homes following the Nov. 4 floods that wrecked wide areas of north and central Italy.

Despite evacuation orders from the prefect of Rovigo Province, 300 Bonelli residents refused to budge. Many farmers in outlying areas said they would stay on the flooded land they had made fertile through hard work and sacrifice.

Although clear skies returned to the low-lying coastal lands south of Venice after 30 hours of continuous rain, officials said the danger to weakened earth and stone levees holding back the Adriatic was not over. They said all the delta's defenses — 55 miles of levees — were in danger of collapse.

Up Several Inches

The Po, Italy's largest river, rose several inches.

"It's the wind we're afraid of now," said an official in this provincial capital about 45 miles southwest of Venice. "If it starts up again and the sea rises, I don't think those embankments will hold up."

Winds up to 55 miles an hour and nine-foot waves from the Adriatic gobbled away a levee and flooded Scardovari with six

Delegates Election Viewed As Tangled in Complexities

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Control of next year's State Constitutional Convention continued today to belong to the Democrats as the unofficial count of election votes went on.

The election of the 186 delegates for the important conclave was tangled in complexities, however, and most observers looked to the Department of State for a clear picture of the outcome.

Indications were that an official tabulation would not be available until early next month. Even then, a final count may be delayed if there are court challenges of the results.

Top-level Republican sources here indicated Thursday that some candidates and civic groups were contemplating court action and requests for new elections.

The latest unofficial count Thursday gave the Democrats 10 of the 15 delegate-at-large seats and 87 of the district delegate seats for a total of 97. That left 84 district seats to the Republicans.

In doubt were three Liberals who had Democratic endorsement, two Republicans endorsed by the Liberals and three Republicans endorsed by the Conservatives.

The unofficial tabulation for the delegate-at-large seats was revised Thursday by inclusion of returns from Greene, Livingston, Monroe, Rockland, St. Lawrence, and Wyoming Counties.

The reports from those counties, supplied by daily newspapers serving those areas, generally did not include write-in ballots. The Monroe County figures represented about 60 per cent of the at-large.

The unofficial count Thursday, from about 12,500 of the state's 13,170 districts showed the Democrats with 2,182,065 votes, the Republicans with 2,082,593, the Conservative slate with 314,919, and the Liberal slate with 308,852.

The Election Bureau of the Department of State and the county election boards told newsmen they would not disclose any figures on the Constitutional Convention vote until Dec. 3 or later.

Dec. 3 is the deadline for reporting local tabulations from the Nov. 8 election. County boards have 25 days after the election to report.

The principal counties from which unofficial returns were still unavailable Thursday were Chemung, Dutchess, Niagara, Ontario, Putnam and Sullivan.

The study, which is being done under a $21,030 state grant, is expected to be completed by June, 1967. Engineers are currently determining average elevation of area to coordinate with aerial maps. After approximate cost has been determined, the town will be divided into sewer districts and hearings will be held. BCI Turns Vehicle Violation Into Arrest of Job Suspect

A motor vehicle law violation lodged agains a Putnam County youth and excellent police work by Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers from the Fishkill detail on Thursday ended a search for a suspect wanted in connection with a daring armed robbery.

As the result of the investigation, Nils Gustafson, 19, of Cold Spring, was in the Dutchess county jail today awaiting grand jury action on a charge of first degree robbery.

Shortly before midnight last Friday, a masked man, reportedly wielding a shotgun, entered Talbot's Service Station at the Dutchess County entrance to the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and ordered an attendant to lie face down on the floor of the station.

The armed man scooped up about $150 from the cash register and made a getaway in what was described as a green 1956 Oldsmobile. The attendant notified his employer, Douglas Talbot and state police at Fishkill were called and told of the robbery.

Roadblocks were set up throughout the area as state troopers virtually sealed off the main highways and assigned patrols to the Newburgh-Beacon Bear Mountain and Mid-Hudson bridges.

While on roadblock detail on Sunday, two troopers stopped a car and during routine check of the driver, learned he had no registration for the 1955 vehicle he was operating.

The driver, Gustafson was cited for the registration violation. Taken before Justice of the Peace Francis Williams, Town of Fishkill, Gustafson readily admitted the violation. He was released at the time.

Sergeant Maurice Vaillant told The Freeman today that Gustafson's car was taken to the

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

EACH HUSBAND AN "ECONOMIST"

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 18 — There was one a day when only specialists paid much attention to national economic trends. That was a time when life was more casual, more "local." There was no jet-plane transportation, no swift-as-light communication. But now the pace of change has quickened and deepened in business, finance, social developments, international relations, and family life. If a man is to make the best of his abilities, his assets, and his domestic situation, he must be pretty much of an "economist" himself.

Preparing for Socio-Economic Changes

Today an individual (and, of course, his family) is more of a cog in the wheel of our total society than ever before. For top success a man must be truly flexible, quick to sense new tendencies and get ready for their emergence. No matter what field a worker is in, he ought to keep an acute eye on the probable prospects for his occupation. Automation and other dynamic innovations cause the phasing out or the narrowing of many jobs.

A man caught in the upsweep of technology should recognize the dwindling opportunity in his job. New areas are opening up constantly, and a study of basic economic trends will reveal where the best positions will be and where wages and salaries will be highest. It is up to an ambitious family head to decide whether he should shoot for further experience and training in his present field, or move immediately into a more promising pursuit. The one who makes up his mind intelligently and takes the appropriate steps toward betterment is most likely to end up on the top of the heap.

Once a young husband or father has established a home, assumed a fair degree of insurance protection, and has a reasonable nest egg in the bank, he should think about building his estate. Part of a well-balanced holding would usually consist of carefully selected stocks, bonds, and eventually some real estate. Here again each man will find that he must become more or less an "economist" himself in order to proceed safely and wisely.

He will want to know what businesses and industries will benefit most from the direction our economy and our society are taking. A higher standard of living and a more sophisticated attitude on the part of consumers will alter the needs and preferences of the general public. Automation is turning into an ever-increasing business, while computers are steadily changing the landscape of our service and industrial fields. The foresighted man will determine the liveliest fields, — for investment, for job chances for himself, and for giving direction to his children's education.

Child Education and Retirement

A father must play the part of the economist in planning for the education of his children. In our ever-expanding economy, costs of schooling will be going up like other living expenditures. What might appear to be an adequate fund right now may prove pitifully inadequate in a few years. Hence, economic trends must be projected so that a family education fund will be sufficient when needed, even though it may mean some temporary "austerity" on the home front.

Every man should think about plans for retirement while he is still young, not wait until he is pushing senior citizenship. Chances are strong that retirement living at the level of his choice will be substantially more costly in the years ahead than it is now. True, there have been dramatic gains in provisions for retirement payments, medical care, and other personal benefits. But the fact remains that a man must be versed in economics if he is going to aim for the highest possible standard of living for his wife and himself in retirement. He must know where the economy is heading and how rapidly, where he is heading and how efficiently. He must learn as he goes along and take advantage of every opportunity to better his leverage and increase the estate on which he can finally retire, — and probably eventually leave to his family. He must be his own "economist."

He's Not Crabbing

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) —Henry C. Martin, former president of the Virginia Crab Packers' Association, says increased purchase of crabs by the armed forces is saving his pinched industry.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Nov. 16, the 322nd day of 1966. There are 43 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1953, the U.S. Navy dedicated its 1.2-million-watt transmitter in the Cascade Mountains in the state of Washington. The transmitter can contact vessels all over the world without the aid of relay stations.

On this date:

In 1903, a treaty between the United States and Panama was ratified, giving the United States control of a 10-mile-wide strip of land for a canal.

In 1935, Italy was faced with economic sanctions because of its invasion of Ethiopia.

In 1939, Adolf Hitler conferred with the Italian and Spanish foreign ministers in Berchtesgaden.

In 1943, Secretary of State Cordell Hull addressed a joint session of Congress on the decisions made at the Moscow foreign ministers conference.

Ten years ago — Envoys of 12 NATO nations and Israel stalked out of a Moscow reception because of comments by Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev accusing Britain, France and Israel of, in his words, "having cut the throats of Egyptians while pretending to restore order."

Five years ago — The return to the Dominican Republic of two brothers of slain dictator Rafael Trujillo prompted a warning by the United States that it would not sit idly by and allow the Trujillo family to resume dictorial control of the Dominican Republic.

One year ago — U.S. air cavalrymen and North Vietnamese regulars renewed their five-day-old battle for control of the Ia Drang Valley in South Viet Nam.

Johnson Approves Medals of Honor For Dead Heroes

By GEORGE ESPER

Bob Hibbs' father recalled that it seemed as if his son had been a soldier since he was a boy.

"Even as a small kid he had the ping pong table covered all the time with his war maneuvers," Walter Hibbs said.

Bob had assembled an extensive collection of miniature soldiers and equipment valued at several thousand dollars.

At 23, Lt. Bob Hibbs, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, was killed in action in Viet Nam. Although wounded twice, he returned to the scene of an ambush to help bring in a wounded comrade, and was killed.

Army Spec. 4 Danny Fernandez, 21, another veteran of the Viet Nam far, never thought of himself as a hero. He had been wounded but volunteered for another tour of combat duty after a trip home to Los Lunas, N.M. He was killed on his second tour when he smothered a Communist hand grenade with his body to save the rest of his patrol.

Hibbs and Fernandez will be awarded posthumously the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest decoration, at a date to be announced. President Johnson approved the awards for the two men Wednesday.

LBJ Operation Again Points To Need of Disability Pact

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once more the country escaped in President Johnson's illness — as in the illnesses of other presidents — the kind of rumpus which could occur because the Constitution is vague on what happens when a president is too disabled to do his job.

When Johnson underwent two he was under an anesthetic about one hour and a half. In about four hours he was whipping back into shape. Before he went to the operating room he and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had an agreement that if Johnson was too disabled to carry out his job, Humphrey would have stepped in.

Informational Pact

At best, it was only an informal arrangement, the same as Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy had with their vice presidents. There have been times in American history when presidents were terribly disabled but there was no arrangement for a vice president to take over.

The lack of a disability agreement spelled out by law could lead to a national crisis.

For example: What if there was a dispute between the president and his vice president over whether the president, after the vice president had stepped in for him, was still too disabled to carry out his duties? In short, what would happen if a vice president refused to stop acting as president?

May Solve It Soon

Perhaps by the end of March, 1967, this problem will have been eliminated. By then three-fourths of the states — 38 out of 50 — are expected to have approved the proposed 25th amendment to the Constitution which Congress okayed July 6, 1965. So far 31 states have approved.

The Johnson-Humphrey arrangements provided that while Johnson was undergoing and recovering from surgery Humphrey, if necessary, would carry out the presidential duties until Johnson had recovered.

As of now the Constitution simply says this on presidential disability and succession: In case of presidential inability, the vice president will carry out the president's job; and Congress can provide by law for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability of president and vice president and decide who takes over as president.

Several times by law Congress has provided for the order of succession — among top government officials — to the presidency if the president dies and there is no vice president. But, while eight vice presidents were alive to take over a presidency vacated by death, seven other times vice presidents died in office. And one vice president resigned.

Would Avoid Nightmare

The proposed 25th amendment tries to prevent the nightmare which would follow if once a disabled president let his vice president take over but then later decided he had recovered enough to take back his job but the vice president, and perhaps others, decided he was still too disabled to function.

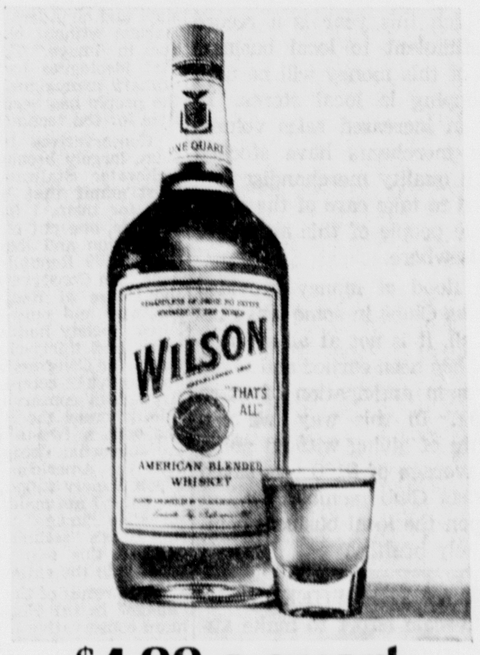

The proposed amendment lays down these rules:

If the president notifies Congress he is unable to carry out iseh d itu st.e ee iiesrd vc phnt his duties, the vice president will take over until the president notifies Congress he has recovered.

If the president is too disabled to fill his job or to tell Congress so or is too disabled to even know he is, the vice president will take over, provided he and a majority of the principal officers of the executive branch tell Congress so.

Once the president thinks he has recovered enough to take back his job, he will notify Congress. If then the vice president and a majority of those other executive officers think differently, Congress will decide.

CHRISTMAS CLUB

Some 11,000 area residents will have a merrier Christmas this year because of the $1,845,000 mailed out by the six local banks and two savings and loan associations.

The annual distribution of Christmas Club checks, which this year is a record amount, is a stimulant to local business as a large part of this money will be used for holiday shopping in local stores. In anticipation of an increased sales volume this year, local merchants have stocked their stores with quality merchandise and are now prepared to take care of the shopping needs of the people of this area. No one need shop elsewhere.

Although the flood of money provided through Christmas Clubs in some ways resembles a windfall, it is not at all synonymous. This fund has been earned and saved in small amounts in anticipation of extra yuletide spending. In this way, we can enjoy the pleasure of giving without going into debt. The average of $100 was saved by each Christmas Club member.

The impact upon the local business community is extremely healthy.

THE MAN AT THE WHEEL

A rather broad-scale effort to make automotive transportation safer is under way now, and making good progress. Safety-oriented improvements in auto design and engineering are beginning to appear. There is even, at long last, an increase in the amount of attention being focused on the so-called "second collision" problem—that is, on how to lessen the damage to occupants of a car involved in a crash.

It would be unrealistic to suppose, however, that this intensified focus on highway safety is going to pay off in a hurry. Whatever time and money is devoted to this undertaking will be a long-term investment. It can be expected to bring handsome returns eventually, but "eventually" is not now nor even next year.

If there is to be any significant decline in the number of accidents in the near future, drivers must shoulder the responsibility. In the present context, it is up to them. Whatever reduction there is in the accident toll during the months ahead depends on how well drivers perform their exacting task.

The urgency of this call to individual responsibiliy is grimly underscored by the recent report of the National Safety Council. During the first nine months of this year, 38,190 have died in auto accidents in the United States. That is a 10 per cent increase over the comparable figure for 1965. Moreover, during the first three quarters of this year 13 million persons suffered disabling injuries and about the same number have been less seriously hurt.

It appears almost certain that last year's highway death toll of 49,000 will be exceeded in 1966. The final total could be substantially reduced, though, if drivers would resolve to drive with special care and consideration for the other fellow on the road. Safety devices will not do it. The man at the wheel is the key.

GETTING HIGH ALOFT

It is well that several major airlines have finally acted to limit the amount of liquor that can be served to passengers on domestic flights. The potential danger in drunkenness aloft is great enough to justify reasonable curbs on flying.

Seven airlines—and others are expected to follow suit—have reached agreement on the matter after several months of negotiation and have filed their proposal with the Civil Aeronautics Board. They plan to limit domestic passengers to no more than 4.2 ounces of distilled liquor while in flight. If anything, this errs on the side of generosity.

An average bar drink contains one ounce of liquor. Four cocktails on a flight, in many instances over quite a short period of time, ought to be enough. This is a reasonable restraint, in the common interest of all passengers.

The filing of the airlines agreement makes this an opportune time, also, for the CAB to consider tightening the reins on all drinking while in flight. There have been indications that this is a considerable problem in private flying. Since private planes share airspace with commercial and military aircraft, any fuzziness in control as the result of drinking is a common hazard. Sensible safeguards imposed through CAB regulation are justifiable.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When Ray Bliss, a "nuts and bolts" man, was called to Washington, D.C., from Ohio to take over the controls at Republican National Committee headquarters, it was feared that his "technician's approach" might fail to revitalize a party that desperately needed a new "image" (there goes that cliche again) to compete with the Democrats. But the technical approach has paid off, and the "image" is taking care of itself.

What Bliss honestly tried to do was to give each Republican his chance once the battle of ideologies had been fought out in the primaries. For example, he had problems in Idaho and in Massachusetts which involved characters who were poles apart from the standpoint of philosophy, yet who needed identical help on November 8 when it came to the business of winning. In Idaho the Republican liberals were threatening to walk out on the chosen conservative Republican nominee for governor, Don Samuelson. In Massachusetts, it was the other way round: conservatives were muttering against the liberal Republican candidate for the Senate, Ed Brooke, a Negro who, as attorney general, had demonstrated great vote-getting ability. Both Samuelson and Brooke needed money, but more than that they needed someone to come into their respective states and knock Republican heads together. Bliss performed an identical service for both candidates—and the "technician's approach" paid off in victories for two men who might logically be expected to get into a shouting match, if they were asked to debate values. The important thing, to Bliss, is that both Samuelson and Brooke carry the Republican label.

In its reliance on this sort of engineering, the Republican Party has finally taken a leaf out of the Democratic book. For years the Democrats have managed to put over an Eastland in Mississippi and an Adam Clayton Powell in New York's Harlem without blush or apology for what this does to "image." The Democratic theory has been that ideologues have their opportunities in the primary campaigns, and that once the verdict of the people has been spoken in the primaries it is time for the technicians to take over.

Conservatives have tended to distrust Ray Bliss, largely because he replaced Dean Burch, a Goldwater Stalwart. But, in all honesty, they must admit that Bliss's technical approach did well for them. I have two endorsement lists before me, one put out by the American Conservative Union and the other by the Ripon Society. Out of 179 Republican candidates backed by the American Conservative Union for the U.S. Senate, the House of Representatives or for Governor, 155 won and only twenty-four lost. The liberal Ripon Society had a record of seventy-seven victories and thirty-eight defeats for their endorsements for Congressional or State Governor offices. So, for what comparative figures are worth, the Republican conservatives got a six-to-one victory ride whereas the Ripon liberals had to be satisfied with a two-to-one performance. The figures are somewhat deceptive, for in certain instances both the American Conservative Union and the Ripon Society supported the same candidates. But the point I am making is that the Republican conservative "image" was not hurt in the least by Ray Bliss's "technical approach." I wouldn't have believed this two years ago, but the pudding's proof is in the eating.

As a result of the 1966 elections the Republican "image" in the House of Representatives will be more conservative than it has been. In the Senate, where the Republicans picked up an additional three seats, the liberals got two men, Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Charles Percy of Illinois, to the conservatives' one, Howard Baker of Tennessee. But Percy, I predict, will try to find voluntary alternatives to Great Society compulsion.

Republican successes in the races for governor can be twisted to favor either conservatism or liberalism, for they offer a picture that covers the whole spectrum. A Rockefeller in New York is "balanced" by a Reagan in California. A Shafer in Pennsylvania, as a replacement for Scranton, leaves things just a little more conservatively tinged in that State than they were before, but a vastly successful Romney in Michigan who seems to be the presidential candidate of the Rockefeller-Javits liberals, means that middle-roader Richard Nixon must fight to keep the gains he has been building for himself among the party faithful. However, if Romney gets the 1968 nod, it won't be because of any special 1966 favoritism on the part of Ray Bliss. Give the man his due, he worked just as hard for Reagan as he did for Romney or Rockefeller.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Side Effects Unlikely In Drugs for Menopause

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Two years ago a doctor warned me not to take hormones because I have cysts in my breasts. Now another doctor has prescribed estrogen for the menopause. He says women are less likely to develop breast cancer if they take the hormone. What do you think?

A—The estrogens prescribed merely replace hormones your ovaries have been producing for many years. They will not cause cancer and may help prevent it but, if you have a cancer, it may be necessary to stop taking the estrogen.

Q—Will Premarin taken for the menopause cause any side effects, such as male characteristics?

A—Premarin is a strictly female hormone. In the prescribed dosage it will not cause any side effects and will not cause masculinization in any dosage.

Q—Does taking hormones for the menopause prolong or shorten the change?

A—It is now believed that hormones will neither prolong nor shorten the change but will relieve some of the symptoms associated with it. Specifically they help you retain a sense of well-being and decrease the manifestations of aging.

Q—I am an auto mechanic and am often exposed to carbon monoxide. Does this gas damage the lungs?

A—No, but it displaces the oxygen in your blood as it passes through your lungs. This causes a shortage of oxygen in the brain and results in headache, mental confusion, lightheadedness, blurred vision and nausea. All well-run garages now have ventilating systems to remove the carbon monoxide from the mechanics' working areas.

Q—I have taken 7 or 8 APC tablets daily for several years for headaches. When I read that these tablets, when used for a prolonged period, can cause kidney trouble I switched to aspirin but it upsets my stomach. What should I do now?

A—APC tablets contain aspirin, phenacetin and caffeine. It is true that prolonged use of phenacetin, which is present also in many over-the-counter pain relievers, may cause kidney disease. Aspirin frequently causes stomach distress.

The first step you should take is to have your doctor determine the cause of your headaches and remove the cause. If, for some reason, this can't be done, you might try a different type of pain reliever, such as propoxyphene or phenyramidol. These drugs require a doctor's prescription.

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A quick telephone check of a few key Republican leaders around the country indicates that, in the glowing aftermath of GOP victories, it is still Michigan's Gov. George Romney and Richard Nixon for the 1968 presidential nomination.

The leaders warmly welcome the addition of Charles Percy of Illinois, U. S. Senate winner, and Ronald Reagan, governor-elect in California, to the sweepstakes roster, but the feeling is they will serve mostly to add zest to the race and give it a surface look of flexibility and openness.

..Romney would have been a serious 1968 prospect even if he had done no more than win big for himself, which he did this time by 570,000 votes, but he also met the conditions set partly by his detractors and partly by cold professionals. He helped pull in Sen. Robert Griffin and five congressmen.

Nixon gets a healthy rub-off of credit for the fact that the GOP picked up 47 U. S. House seats, since he concentrated his campaign efforts in many of the winners' districts. He is still a strong southern favorite, and his stock was not hurt when President Johnson attacked him at the end as if he were Mr. Republican.

Riding on a 400,000-vote margin, the attractive young Percy is seen by party figures as sure to be a steady attention-getter in Washington. But, with respect to 1968 presidential chances, one leader says:

"That would be an improbable thing." Another, in the Midwest, adds: "The way I understand it, even his own people (in Illinois) are not quite ready for that yet."

Though the "not yet" sentiment seems widespread, one seasoned political organizer thinks Percy could crank up quickly even with what will be his limited experience in public office. Anti-Romney moderates—and there are some— surely will be drawn to him.

Reagan, like Percy, is seen as a man who needs time in office to prove himself before going for the big job. Says the same veteran organizer:: "If I were advising Reagan, I'd tell him to sit in Sacramento and learn how to be one hell of a topflight governor."

Both Reagan and Percy swiftly indicated intent to serve out their full terms, but this may prove tougher for Reagan, the new hero of his party's strong conservatives.

Professionals believe these ardent folks will be busily forming Reagan clubs from here on and that his disavowals of interest will be ignored. His hand could be forced.

Nixon, for all his high status with many party regulars, suffers from the drain of the conservative interest toward Reagan. More and more, too, professionals are arguing that he must go to the 1968 primary route to have any chances. Says one:

"People are likely to say to Nixon: 'Show us you're a winner'."

Some of Nixon's friends think the primaries could prove bloody and costly for him. Yet he has to lick the "loser's image."

Romney likewise has his problems. The biggest is the nagging notion, expressed by one midwestern leader, that the governor still has not proved his grasp of major foreign and domestic affairs.

Romney, moreover, is believed to be in serious need of more staff people knowledgeable in national politics, who can get him his moderate supporters some early momentum before any opposition can crystalize as Goldwater forces did in 1964.

Problems notwithstanding, Romney and Nixon nevertheless remain the big choices in a field made wider and more exciting by newcomers Reagan and Percy.

Says Alliance of Nations Could Guarantee Peace Pact

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The time has come for the United States to make a move that can bring about the end of the fighting in Viet Nam. This calls for the formation of a new alliance comprising as many allies as the United States can line up on its side to guarantee that a peace agreement will be honored, and to be ready, if a violation occurs, to take military action to halt any new aggression.

Up to now, the American government has been begging for peace and has been expecting neutral nations to act as intermediaries to bring about negotiations. But the North Viet Nam regime, sponsored as it is by the governments in Peiping and Moscow, evidently believes that it can prolong the war and eventually get the equivalent of a victory. It is apparent that peace is not going to be obtained by President Johnson merely through the pleas of neutral powers.

Making Headway

Obviously America is making considerable headway in its military strategy and is imposing heavy punishment on the North Vietnamesse. But, while the United States has a large force in Viet Nam, an alliance representing an even greater military potential could unquestionably play a decisive part in requiring the Hanoi government to begin negotiations for an armistice and a settlement.

The failure of the United Nations to intervene and bring peace in Viet Nam is one of the most tragic developments of the century. The reason for U.N. inaction unquestionably is the increasing number of smaller nations whose governments are afraid to take a position that might antagonize some of the larger powers.

Senator Russell B. Long of Louisiana, one of the Democratic leaders in the Senate, in a speech on Tuesday at Atlantic City said:

"As long as we let ourselves be deluded into thinking that the United Nations is an effective organizations for collective security and mutual self-defense—which it is not—it prevents us from organizing something that could be what the United Nations claims to be and is not."

Mr. Long called the U.N. a glorified debating society, and, in truth, its principal purpose from the very beginning has been to provide a forum for discussion of international problems. Most governments have not been willing to delegate to the U.N. the power to make war or to intervene by force in the internal or external affairs of the member states.

The United Nations Charter, however, recognizes the principle of "Collective Security," and article 51 states:

"Nothing in the present charter shall impair the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a member of the United Nations, until the Security Council has taken measures to maintain international peace and security."

Alliance Must Act

It is obvious, therefore, that an alliance of states has to be created to take over the entire Viet Nam problem and force a solution. An effective alliance could be formed, for example, by the United States with Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, The Philippines, Japan, South Korea, Thailand, Italy, Austria, Greece, Turkey, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Belgium, The Netherlands, The West German Republic and several countries in Latin America. Each member of the alliance would pledge itself to send troops, if necessary, to join with the United States in bringing peace to Viet Nam.

At first glance, many of these countries would wish to refrain from becoming involved. But sooner or later, their peoples would come to understand that, unless some means is provided to stop aggression in the world, no country will be safe in the future.

Plainly the task of preserving peace in the world is not an obligation of the United States alone but of other nations as well. The recent meeting in Manila indicated clearly that Southeast Asia is a danger area and that the troubles there could precipitate an intercontinental war. Hence, the formation of a new alliance to take collective action to insure peace is a logical step in the establishment of a common defense not only for Asia but for Europe.

Timely Quotes

He's got a good head for details. He'd make a fine Marine operations officer.

—Sgt. Clovis Coffman Jr., a Marine from Richmond, Va., after eating with President Johson in Viet Nam.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

A man needs a quality called drive. Harry Angus McNevin has it. He has blue eyes and dark wavy hair and soft manners. Underneath, he has an insatiable desire to do well. This is drive. In 10 years he has gone from zero to $25,000 a year. He will do better. After all, he's only 32.

Harry lived in Hyattsville, Maryland. He was born one freezing night on Prince Edward Island, Canada. The snow was so deep that the doctor entered by the second floor window. Harry never missed a meal, but his parents had little to offer.

I don't know whether a man is born with drive, or picks it up. If the latter is true, then I understand why the sons of the well-to-do seldom have it, and boys who deliver newspapers, run errands and shine shoes are loaded with it.

McNevin worked for Bendix Westinghouse, in Washington, as a trouble-shooter. He was a trouble-shooter on air pressure braking systems and earned $138 a week. Most young fellows rot in a job like that. Harry figured a way of installing breakaway systems in 2½ hours instead of half a day. He got no more money for it; he just wanted to show the boss he was on the ball.

A truck driver came in one day with a truck tractor. He was mad. The tractor was to be turned in for a new one, but the trucking company wouldn't give the owner $650 for the old one. Harry McNevin looked it over. "I'll give you $650," he said. "But I'll have to borrow the money."

He did. His father-in-law gave it to him. It was a big truck cab, with a round plate behind it for hauling trucks. A new one costs $6,000. Harry talked to truck drivers. They gave him tips on where to find haulage jobs. He kept his regular job and moved houses, at $50 a unit, early every morning.

In 1957, he quit Bendix and leased his tractor and himself to Northern Van Lines. He was going to learn the long-distance moving business. The first job took him from Washington, D.C., to Denver and back. Three-weeks. Total take: $650. Harry began to pay his father-in-law back.

In a year, he had learned a lot. He bought a better truck-tractor for $800—one with a sleeper in the cab and a motor under the driver—and he cannibalized parts from the old one. He learned all the laws enunciated by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Total length of truck and tractor used to be 45 feet, for example; now it's 55.

Always he was polite. Always he was looking for new ways of doing his work well, without wasting time. One more year, and Harry McNevin had saved $10,000. He traded the old tractor in for $1,800, and bought a brand new diesel for $15,600. Edith, his wife, thought he was going too far too fast.

He was running to California and back. Harry learned how to crate and how to load furniture. He learned how to deliver 20 rooms of furniture in Los Angeles, then run up to San Francisco and pick up a load for Las Vegas, drop it off, and get some merchandise for Roswell, New Mexico, and head for home.

The law says he can drive 10 hours, and must rest for eight. He slept at truck stops for $1.50 a bed. In six months, he put down $5,000 on a new house. Then he bought another one and, in 1963, bought a second rig and trained a driver in the McNevin style. Harry rented the second house to his driver. When he bought the third tractor, he went into debt to get it.

He's doing well. He and his units joined the Atlas Van Company. He finds that hard work pays off. He takes 10 per cent from one of his drivers, and pays the insurance, license fees and federal highway use tax. He takes 5 per cent from the other man, who pays his own incidentals. Both take in $20,000 a year, less expenses.

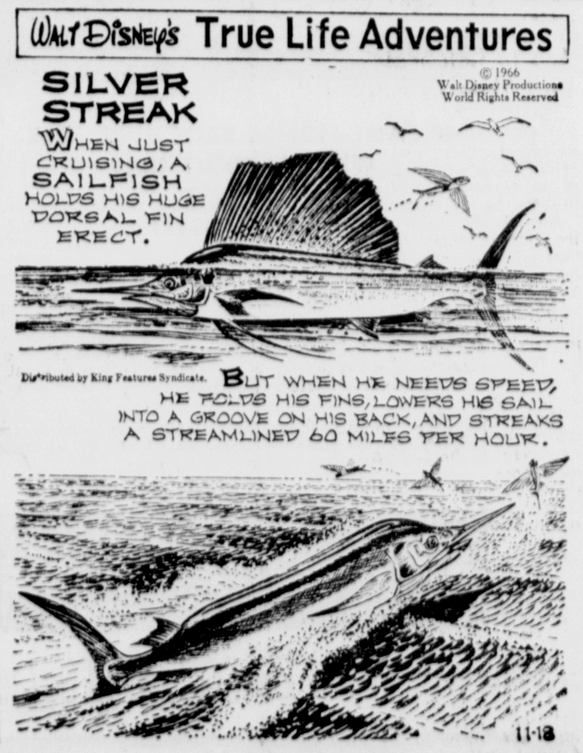

Atlas Van has 1,400 tractors, and ranks behind Allied Van Lines & North American, Mayflower, United, and Greyhound. So it's obvious that long-distance moving is a big business. Harry doesn't have to look for work. Embassy Moving and Storage of Washington are his agents. They get the contracts. Harry furnishes the tractors and drivers. Atlas furnishes the trucks.

A family with five rooms of furniture pays $200 to have it packed, $850 to have it moved from New York to Los Angeles. Of this, Atlas gets 8 per cent; Embassy takes 20 per cent; the trailer owner get 22 per cent; Harry takes 50 per cent. Harry is thinking of expanding.

Two weeks ago, Edith complained that he is seldom home. So Harry accepted an award from Atlas for driving 300,000 miles without an accident. It consisted of a week in Florida for man and wife free and, in addition, as Harry says, $100 a day for the time he's losing soaking up sun.

He's a man with drive. It is ambition and it's more than that. It's a desire to do better than the other guy . . .

Yerry Discusses Compensation for Kiwanis Members

Rehabilitation and safety were two factors stressed by George E. Yerry Jr., a Commissioner of the New York State Compensation Board speaking before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday on the subject of the work of workmen's compensation in the state.

Yerry, prior to his appointment by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to the state board, was well-known locally as a labor leader and organizer, particularly in the building and construction trades.

Outlives Functions

Outlining the functions of the board, Yerry said that there were 13 commissioners who act as an appeal board at the request of the insurance carriers. Disability benefits, civil defense workers, and volunteer firemen were all facets of the board's field of activity.

Stressing the procedure that "we act upon what is in the record," the speaker said that his board considers from 50 to 60 cases a week. He said that two days are spent on the hearings and then written decisions are based upon the evidence submitted. These decisions are given by the panel which hears the cases. He also pointed out that the "full board can review the decisions of the panel and revise them if necessary." The reasons for these reviews and sometime revisions were stated as "questions of fact and law."

"The creditability of witnesses is hard to decide," said Yerry who explained that witnesses sometimes have very different opinions as to what had occurred.

The questions of non-insured employers, minors employed illegally, appeals on disability benefits, the settlement of claims on partially disabled workers, and the review of fees for lawyers and doctors involved in cases, also comes under the jurisdiction of the panel of the compensation board to which Yerry is attached.

More Accident Cases

"Accident cases are increasing," said Yerry, citing the number of 35,000 hearings in October 1965 with 39,000 in the same month this year. This causes increased cost to the employer and additional lost employment. To offset this, Commissioner Yerry pointed to the current rehabilitation program which he said brought a return of $130,000 per week in comparison to an expenditure of $67,000 for compensation.

Yerry called upon employers to take heed of a safety program for their establishments. The carrying of accident insurance was not enough for the employer, rather he should find out why accidents happen. The speaker pointed to the increases in insurance rates due to the lack of a safety program, and stressed the necessity of more concern for safety and for rehabilitation.

Firm Bids $53,900 To Paint 9 Bridges

ALBANY — J. Burch McMorran, State Superintendent of Public Works. Thursday announced receipt of a low bid of $53,900 from Dynamic Painting & Dec. Corp., Bronx, for cleaning and painting 9 bridges in Dutchess, Orange, Rockland and Ulster Counties. Four bids were received.

Included in the project are two bridges on Route 9W in Orange and Ulster Counties; one on Route 17K and one on Route 209 in Orange County; one on Route 44, and one on Route 52 in Dutchess County; one on Route 17 in Rockland County, and structures on Routes 213 and 52 in Ulster County.

This project was made possible as a result of appropriations recommended by Governor Rockefeller and approved by the Legislature.

Work is expected to begin shortly after a contract is officially executed. The contract will be awarded, following a routine check by state engineers of all bids received, to the contractor who is found to have submitted the lowest valid bid. There usually is a lapse of about one month between receipt of bids and contract award.

Scheduled for completion by November 1, 1967, all work will be under the supervision of M. Nicholas Sinacori District Engineer in charge of the department's district office at Poughkeepsie.

Ask to Celebrate Full Mass in English

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Roman Catholic bishops have asked Rome's permission to celebrate in English the entire Mass, except for certain private prayers by the priest.

English now is widely used in the Mass in this country, except that Latin is retained in the canon, a fundamental part of the Mass. Under the proposal adopted Thursday by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and subject to approval by the Liturgical Consilium in Rome, the entire canon would be in English.

There were indications an announcement would be forthcoming today — the final day of the conference — on the question of abolishing or modifying the Church's ban on Catholics eating meat on Friday.

Asked whether a statement could be expected today on the rule, Bishop Walter W. Curtis of Bridgeport, Conn., said: "I am sure we could not go home without one."

"Especially on Friday," added Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of New Orleans.

Recover Picasso Stolen in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Pablo Picasso painting stolen by a publicity-seeking thief was recovered early today in a bus station locker.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia Museum of Art, where the painting was stolen, said, "The painting is perfectly all right. There is no damage to it."

No arrests were made. Detectives said a telephone tip led them to the locker in the Greyhound bus terminal.

The museum said Thursday the thief threatened in a phone call to burn the art work and leave the ashes in City Hall courtyard unless the theft was given "maximum publicity."

The theft reportedly took place Wednesday during visiting hours.

The water color, 6¾ inches by 8¾ inches, is a study Picasso did for one of his major works, "Les Demoiselles D'Avignon" ("The Girls of Avignon"), a large oil canvas which hangs in the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

In 1907, the water color of five female nude figures is valued at about $8,000, Dr. Evan H. Turner, museum director, said. Some Picasso works have brought six-figure prices.

Snake, Not Hose

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Laurie Spicer decided to move a sprinkler watering the front lawn on his farm 250 miles east of Perth. To save the trouble of turning off the sprinkler, he ran under it to grab the hose, bend it and stop the flow of water.

Spicer grabbed and was about to bend the "hose" when it squirmed violently in his hands.

The horrified Spicer found he had grabbed a deadly, 5-foot copperhead snake which apparently was cooling off under the sprinkler.

The electric eel can release its current in machine gun-like bursts of about 400 shocks a second.

In addition to half a ton of rice, the infantrymen seized 40 chickens and ducks and one pig.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Says Some Split Sessions Loom Even if Bond Passes

The Board of Education of Saugerties Central School District will hold a public hearing Monday at 8:15 p. m. in the High School auditorium, Washington Avenue, to explain the need for a bond issue of $1,585,000 and to answer questions.

To meet the need for more school facilities, the Board has planned a $530,000 addition to the Mt. Marion School and a $1,036,000 addition to the Glasco School. The Board also proposes purchase of land adpacent to the Glasco School property at a cost of $19,000. The additional land is required to meet state regulations before an addition can be constructed. The Mt. Marion site has sufficient land to meet requirements

The additional school facilities are needed to meet the ever-increasing school enrollments, says Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, who reports that there are presently 402 pupils enrolled in kindergarten as compared to a 12th grade of 178, and that the 1966 census shows more pre-school children than any previous census.

All elementary classrooms are in use and, in preparation for the school year, it has been necessary to put triple sessions in each kindergarten room rather than two sessions and to make use of the remedial room at the Morse School for a regular classroom, he said.

Even though the bond issue is approved and construction started as soon as possible, it probably will be necessary to put some grades on split sessions until the additions can be used, he said. A defeated bond issue will mean more grades on split sessions each year until money is made available for construction, Dr. Arnold added. Delays are not only serious because they deprive children of needed facilities, but also because the cost of construction is increasing each year, thus creating an unnecessary tax burden, he said.

The vote on the bond issue is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 29, at the Main Street School auditorium. Polls will be open from 12 noon to 9 p. m.

School Staffers Give $1,247.00 To Chest Drive

Employes of Saugerties Central School District established a new record of generosity and support of the Ulster County Community Chest in the 1966 campaign. Sixty-seven per cent of the employes participated and gave a total of $1,247, according to Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, who led the drive with the assistance of principals George Hamaty, Robert Moser, Norman Bolinder, Patrick Buonfiglio, Ernest Blake, Clarence Bryden and business manager Gerald Snyder. The previous record was set in 1964 when the total was $821. Other drives brought $570.50 in 1963—the first year in which school employes gave as a unit—and $668 in 1965.

Dr. Arnold said, "The Ulster County Community Chest is worthy of support of all citizens and employes of the Saugerties Central School District are pleased to contribute as a unit. Agencies of the Chest supply varied services, most of which are designed to help youth. Teachers and other employes of the District have demonstrated concern for youth, recognition of the value of the services and willingness to join other members of their community in giving.

"Personally, I am very proud of our employes in the Saugerties District and I am very pleased that they have shown once again that they are fine, generous people who have concern for others."

The amounts given and percentage of participation by units within the District follow:

Administration and special teachers gave $228 for 61 per cent participation; Senior High School, $306 for 51 per cent; Junior High School, $144 for 33 per cent; Main Street School, $148 for 76 per cent; Glasco and Malden Schools, $96 for 100 per cent; Mt. Marion School, $149 for 96 per cent.

Conte Is Elected To Head Chamber

Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce this week elected Albert V. Conte, local insurance adjuster and Washington Avenue resident, as president of the organization for 1967 during voting at its annual meeting. Conte, long associated with the Miss Saugetries Pageants, succeeds outgoing president, Robert Levitan, who was elected a director for three years.

Other officers elected to the organization at the meeting at Saugerties Savings Bank were: Herbert Lachmann, first vice-president; Clyde Miller, second vice-president; Richard Buono, treasurer; and John Offermann, director for two years. The entire slate as presented by the nominating committee was voted into office and there were no nominations from the floor.

ALBERT V. CONTE

The new president has both directed and been in charge of production for the Miss Saugerties Pageants. He has also been an officer of the Saugerties Council, Knights of Columbus and the Mid-Hudson Claims Association and is a member of the Hudson Valley Association for Approved Basketball Officials. He has been a resident of Saugerties for the past 12 years; is married and the father of four daughters.

Vote $50 Donation

In other business at the annual meeting, Chamber members voted a donation of $50 to the Saugerties Central School's Organ Fund. Half of this was allotted from the Miss Saugerties Pageant and the remainder from the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber also reminds local residents of the arrival once again of the Grand Union-Empire Santa Claus float in Saugerties on Friday, Dec. 2. The colorful float will be escorted into the village from the outskirts of town at 2:30 p. m. on arrival day and riding the float this year will be blonde and winsome Susan Schoonmaker, 17-year-old Rondout Valley Central School senior, who was named Miss Saugerties-Ulster County for 1967 last month. The float will be parked at the corner of Market and Main Streets from 3 to 5 p. m. on Dec. 2.

Build Plant for Water

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is building an atomic plant for making fresh water at Shevchenko, on the Caspian Sea, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Thursday.

Tass said the conventional desalination plant has proved inadequate for the growing city. The Caspian Sea is salty and there is no local natural source of fresh water.

Tass did not report when the plant will be finished or give other details.

Regulation pace in the U.S. Army is 30 inches for quick time and 36 inches for double time.

POSTER WINNERS—Local students in Grades five to 12 competed in both essay and poster contests this month which were sponsored by Saugerties Teachers Association in connection with American Education Week. Displaying winning posters are Julia Harder, Grant D. Morse School pupil who won in the fifth and sixth grade division, and Amy Bragg, Junior High winner. Absent from the picture is William Ryan, Senior High winner. All three received pins and letters of commendation for their excellent poster work.

Hoffa Uses Rally To Rap Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa says New Yorkers were "stupid to elect an outsider" like Robert F. Kennedy as a U.S. senator.

Hoffa, who is free in bail while appealing a conviction for jury tampering, used a union organizing rally as a forum Thursday night to rap Kennedy who as U.S. attorney general was one of those pressing prosecution of the union chief.

Remarks Explained

Hoffa's "outsider" remark about Kennedy obviously was aimed at the fact that he was a resident of Virginia and a registered voter in Massachusetts before he moved into New York State to run for senator.

Hoffa also rapped George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO which ousted Hoffa's International Brotherhood of Teamsters years ago. He said he doubts that Meany "knows what labor bills are before Congress."

A crowd of 400 office employes of Pan American World Airways cheered and applauded Hoffa as he spoke at a rally staged by his union. There were colored balloons, cowbells and other noisemakers. A three-piece band, with loud amplification, played "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" as Hoffa walked to the platform.

The rally was aimed at Pan Am business office employes.

The Teamsters are seeking through an election to win the right to bargain for 7,100 Pan Am workers now represented by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Hoffa told the crowd: "The only thing you get in this country is what you are big enough to take. If you don't take it, Pan American will take it from you."

He said the 1.7-million-member Teamsters Union, with a $52 million strike fund, is big enough and strong enough for the job.

The Brotherhood has refused to be on the ballot.

Under National Mediation Board rules, an election is valid only when 50 per cent plus one of all eligible persons cast ballots. The Railway Clerks are asking Pan Am employes not to vote, thereby keeping down the number of ballots and making the results invalid.

Continue Probes Of Saugerties Jobs

Saugerties police today continued investigation of two recent burglaries reported by proprietors of service stations in that community.

Dargan's garage was entered through a rear window and loot taken from the place consisted of two tires and two car batteries.

Nick Steyer's Shell station was entered several nights ago and the intruder made off with $40 in cash and the contents of a cigarette machine which was rifled, according to police.

Denies Weapon Hydrogen Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says a Navy jet plane accidentally dropped a non-nuclear practice weapon into waters off Puerto Rico last August.

It denied published reports Wednesday that the weapon was a hydrogen bomb, and later the Oakland, Calif., Tribune explained how its story had reached print.

The staff of the Senate-House Atomic Committee confirmed the Defense Department's account that the weapon dropped during practice maneuvers by an A4 jet contained no nuclear material.

The Pentagon said the practice weapon was recovered Aug. 20 because it contained "a small charge of conventional explosives" and electrical equipment

The Tribune, which published the hydrogen bomb account in its early editions, wrote later that Col. Jack Rosen of the Senate-House Atomic Committee staff had previously answered a Tribune inquiry by saying a "training nuclear weapon" had been accidentally dropped and recovered.

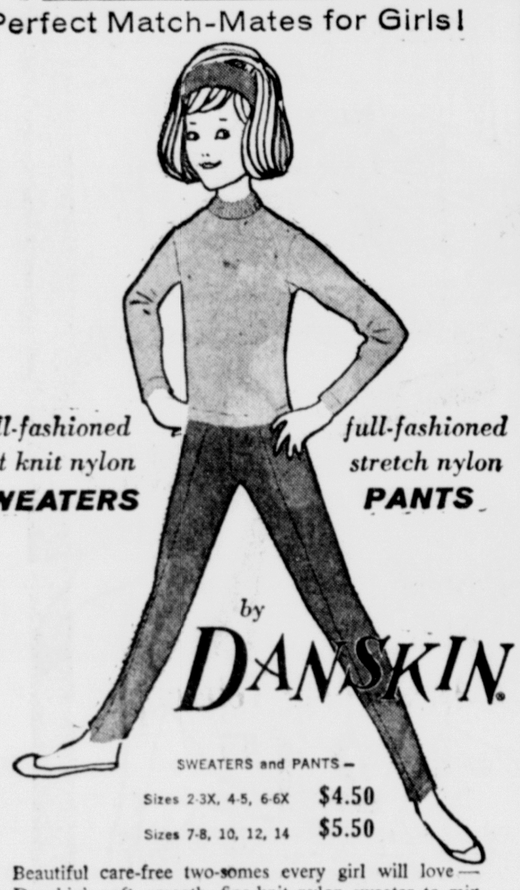

The Tribune said Rosen told news media Wednesday the weapon contained only conventional explosives, but quoted him as saying he had not relayed that changed account to the Tribune earlier because an Atomic Energy Commission report on the incident was secret.

Nurses Condemn Proposed Laws At Paltz Meeting

More than 40 local registered nurses gathered at the New Paltz Town Hall Monday, to protest a portion of the legislation proposed by State Senator Norman Lent of Nassau County.

The proposal would demand a 90-day active role in a fi e year period or the licensed professional would be faced with loss of their license. This lost license could be regained on a temporary basis only after 140 hours of instruction.

The reaction of this group of nurses, representing all fields and all ages, was that this was a destructive move and betrayed a sad lack of basic knowledge of what the field of nursing was and no understanding of the extreme damage to public well-being that would result if this were implemented.

The detailed attitude of this group was presented as a Position Paper which reads as follows:

"The legislation proposed by Senator Lent, as reported in the newspapers, contains some areas of undisputed merit (for example, money for the training of more nurses) and some areas that exhibit a complete lack of understanding of nursing.

If coercion is the aim of required activity in a five year period, it must be rejected as a basic invasion of rights and can only produce a further shortage of nurses. Many of our nurses have returned to nursing after having left to raise families. To put restrictions in the law that could nulify a license could well deprive the public of their services as well as deprive them of their rights. The same result can be expected as to recruitment of new nurses — the incentive of a lifetime employability will be lost.

"It seems that this period, where chronic nurse shortages are becoming acute, is a poor time for well meaning amateurs to become involved in things they don't understand or for "in groups" to peddle their exclusion policies. We have neither the time nor the patience to tolerate this as a professional group, nor has the general public the resources to gamble when the coin is their well-being from a health standpoint."

Don't Reject Education

It was emphasized by the group that this statement was in no way to be construed as a rejection of further education or of refresher work.

The activities agreed upon by the group were to be a letter writing campaign directed to the various state legislators, the alerting of others in the profession to form their own groups throughout the state for similar activity and the welcoming of assistance in this effort by the public.

A follow-up meeting has been scheduled for Nov. 28, at 7:30 p. m. at the New Paltz Town Hall, to report on the interim action. Any interested persons are welcome to attend.

Report U. S. Holds 3-1 ICBM Edge

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have stressed that deployment of a Soviet antimissile system has not changed this basic fact in the balance of power: The United States still can destroy any enemy — even one that strikes first.

Emphasizing the offensive, the officials reported Thursday that the United States still is maintaining a better than 3 to 1 edge in stockpiles of Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles.

Production of such missiles, they said, has been programmed to assure that American rockets could effectively penetrate any antimissile system the Soviets are capable of building.

Appellate . . .

represent Welfare Commissioner Fitzsimmons, and Attorney Leonard N. Tarr of Brooklyn, was to represent the Liunis. Tarr and Attorney Joseph Spencer, who also represents the Tillson couple in the Family Court action here as amici curiae (friends of the court) are counsel for the Adoptive Parents Committee, Inc., of New York City.

Fitzsimmons was petitioner in the habeas corpus action in Family Court, seeking to compel the Liunis to return Beth to the welfare department. Ulster County Family Court Judge Hugh Elwyn ruled in his favor.

The child's foster parents had refused to surrender the little girl when told by the Welfare Department that another couple was to be allowed to adopt Beth. The Liunis pleaded for permission to adopt her themselves and were told this would not be approved.

Several Reasons Cited

It was reported the reasons given included their age—48; the fact that their ethnic background does not match that of the child, and the claim that Mrs. Liuni, who suffered a breakdown last year, was unable to fulfill responsibilities of a adoptive mother.

Adoption, per se, was not an issue in the Family Court, nor is it in the appeal, according to Albany reports.

Under court order Beth has been allowed to remain with the Liunis pending outcome of the appeal.

In other action relating to the case, the Associated Press reported in Albany today that the state commissioner of social welfare said if current laws and procedures involving the adoption of foster children are not adequate "then we ought to strengthen them."

George K. Wyman made that statement Thursday, explaining that he would favor any investigation of current adoption laws, provided the study is not confined to a specific case.

An investigation of adoption laws has been called for by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., in a case involving Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni of Tillson, Ulster County, and a 4'-year-old girl that they had been caring for since she was five days old.

The couple was told recently by Joseph Fitzsimmons, Ulster County welfare commissioner, that they could not adopt Elizabeth St. John, because of their age and medical circumstances. The Liunis are 48.

"I would agree, that people ought to know as much as they can about what is involved and the kind of protection that's given," in adoption situations, Wyman said.

"What I think we need to have is a careful consideration of the law and its application. If provisions are not adequate, then we ought to strengthen them."

The commissioner emphasized that he would not stress "a specific case," in such an investigation but added that as a "public official" he would be pleased to discuss the Liuni case with the proper authorities.

Wyman added that ethnic background is not a legal reason upon which to base a decision for or against adoption of a child.

"There is, Wyman said, "a legal requirement that adoptive parents shall, where practicable, be of the same religion of the child. But ethnic factors have no relevancy."

The Liunis contend they are not being allowed to adopt the child because of differences in ethnic backgrounds. They are Italian-American, the girl is of Irish-German extraction.

Three Turkeys

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office's latest promotion for its ZIP code is a real turkey — or, rather, three turkeys.

The department expects to handle about 100 million Thanksgiving greeting cards this year, and says if you happen to be mailing a card to somebody in one of the nation's three communities called Turkey, you'd best use the ZIP code.

That way, the department says, your card is sure to arrive at the right turkey.

"Faced with the holiday rush and heaps of cards," a postal spokesman said, "mailers will often use wrong addresses, or write so hastily part of the address will be illegible. But with ZIP code identifying the exact destination intended for the card, it can be sent directly."

In the case of turkey, it's Turkey, N.C., 28393; Turkey, Ky., 41382, and Turkey, Tex., 79261.

New Apollo Timetable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has altered its Apollo timetable.

Under plans announced Thursday for the project designed to put man on the moon, an unmanned Apollo flight will be added following the first manned flight, scheduled for late January.

The unmanned flight will be an orbital test of the Lunar Excursion Module, a spacecraft designed to be detached from the main Apollo vehicle as it orbits the moon and carry two men to the moon's surface.

The second manned Apollo mission will involve a rendezvous with an orbiting lunar Capsule. Part of the Apollo crew will transfer to the capsule and back. No crew has been named.

These Apollo spacecraft will be sent into orbit by modified Saturn 1 boosters.

Troops in Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say at least 15,000 North Vietnamese troops had an undetermined number of construction workers are in Laos, mostly guarding and maintaining the Ho Chi Minh trail leading to South Viet Nam.

Experts expect them to make a number of armed raids to obtain rice and other food stuffs, but say there are no indications of a winter offensive in Laos.

The Laotian government says there are two battalions of Chinese Communist troops in North Laos, but Washington officials believe these may be hill tribe units of Chinese ethnic origin who are members of the North Viet Nam army.

bridge. The body has never been recovered although grappling operations were conducted last June, 17 months after the body was allegedly thrown from the bridge.

Mrs. Rosiello was also indicted by a grand jury for first degree perjury growing out of testimony she gave before a grand jury. That indictment is still pending.

The examination of prospective jurors was continued in County Court today with District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca appearing for the prosecution and Francis Martocci and Joseph Saccoman appearing for defendant. During the morning session Martocci proceeded with the examination of prospective jurors.

Moved Elsewhere

Mrs. Rossiello had been held in the county jail as a material witness for some time but was recently removed to other quarters when it was ascertained that there had been attempts made to communicate with Rickard who is confined in the men's quarters of the main jail. Both the women's jail and the men's jail are in adjacent buildings but it it possible to communicate by shouting from one building to the other.

It is expected the selection of a jury will take considerable time due to the seriousness of the charge.

Cornwall Mayor: Would Not Mar Power Plant Area

NEW YORK (AP) — The mayor of the village of Cornwall testified before the Federal Power Commission today that a proposed $184 million Con Edison power plant would "definitely not" mar the scenic beauty of Storm King Mountain.

Mayor Michael J. Donahue was the first witness at the fifth day of public hearings here on the proposed hydroelectric plant.

He said the "vast majority" of the residents of the village favored the project because of the benefits which would accrue to the community.

He said the proposal would provide increased recreational areas, increase the tax base, and stimulate employment in the mid-Hudson River valley area.

Donahue said that the village already had received $2.2 million in increased water facilities paid for by the utility as part of the agreement in which the village turned over its upper reservoir to the company.

"How can an underground installation completely hidden from sight destroy scenic views?" he asked.

The power plant is opposed largely by conservationist groups which feel that it would destroy the natural beauty of the area and kill off plant, animal and fish life.

Professor Critical Of UR Results

Urban renewal "has done more harm to the poor than perhaps anything else has," says a conservative theorist.

In a talk at Brown University Thursday night, Russell Kirk, professor of politics at C.W. Post College on Long Island, N.Y., suggested the "end of poverty would not bring social contentment."

He said charitable organizations, not government bureaucracies, are the best agencies to deal with poverty in America.

Kirk said the "Corktown" section of Detroit, Mich., illustrates the problems that urban renewal creates for low-income neighborhoods.

Efforts to rehabilitate the area, he said, have left a "wilderness of scattered bricks" and city authorities have "made Corktown a slum."

Six Killed, 66 Hurt In Rail Collision

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Police reported today that six Germans were killed, 66 were injured and two are missing in the head-on collision of a commuter train and a runaway empty diesel railway car Thursday night.

The single-track stretch 10 miles west of Frankfurt was still blocked today, and the Frankfurt state prosecutor impounded the wreckage until completion of an investigation.

The brakes on the empty diesel car reportedly became unlocked while it stood in a station. It rolled into the path of the six-car passenger train, and four of the packed commuter cars were derailed as the steam locomotive piled on top of the diesel car.

Brandt, Kiesinger Talk

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt and Kurt Georg Kiesinger, rivals to be West Germany's next chancellor, met privately today for more discussion of the possibilities of a Christian Democrat-Social Democrat coalition government.

Political circles said, however, no definite moves by either man could be expected until after tse Bavarian state election Sunday. Kiesinger, the Christian Democrat choice to succeed Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, acknowledged before meeting Brandt, the Social Democrat leader, that the Bavarian election "had put a damper" on interparty talks.

Pollution by Cars

WASHINGTON (AP)—The use of internal combustion engines in automobiles and the health of the American people don't mix, says the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

"I see some kind of collision," John W. Gardner said Thursday, "unless ways are found to eliminate air pollution caused by such engines in motor vehicles."

Renew Talks Today For Radio-TV Pact

By BOB MONROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Union-ordered work stoppages on some taped television programs added urgency today to a federal mediator's initial effort to avert a threatened strike against the nation's major television and radio networks.

The AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists invoked the work stoppages Thursday against taped television shows whose producers would not agree to keep reruns off the air in the event of a strike.

Negotiators for the two sides began their meeting with mediator Desser this morning.

Saying he was "deeply concerned" over the "continuing impasse," Frank H. Brown, regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, Thursday asked both sides to meet with mediator Albert Desser today.

Donald F. Conaway, executive secretary of AFTRA, met here Thursday night with members of the union's national board — which has authority to call a strike — and said other board members would meet today in Chicago and Los Angeles.

With the exception of the taping session work stoppages, union members continued to appear before cameras and microphones at the networks — NBC, the Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Co. and the Mutual radio network.

All three television network have promised that all scheduled football games this weekend will be shown even if management personnel must call the play-by-play.

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Cargo tonnage moved on the St. Lawrence Seaway in the April-October period this year totaled 13 per cent more than the tonnage in the corresponding period last year.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. reports that increased shipments of wheat, iron ore and other bulk products were major factors in the increase. All told, shipments increased 41.3 million tons.

The Welland Canal, west of the seaway, recorded a similar increase, from 45.1 million tons to 49.5.

Signs of Corruption Plainly Evident on Docks of Saigon

This is the final article in a series on graft and bribery in Viet Nam based on the findings of an Associated Press team.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Goods which cost an awful lot of U.S. tax money vanish into thin air — or, sometimes, into shallow water — in the dock area of Saigon.

Amid rumors that some native port officials with salaries of about 10,000 piastres — $100 — a month are wallowing in the luxury of expensive villas and costly cars, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky denounced the port on Nov. 10 as "a den of thieves."

During a waterfront visit, the prime minister told Brig. Gen. Pham Dang Lan, South Vietnamese director general of Saigon port, that any officials caught stealing henceforth would be shot.

"I'm not speaking of you," Ky told Lan. "I'm speaking of the men who are working under you."

Pilferage at the Saigon docks is only one aspect of the graft, corruption, black marketeering and other chicanery of the Vietnamese war, involving hundreds of millions of U.S. dollars, brought to light by an Associated Press reporting team in a wide-ranging investigation.

100,000 Tons Lost Monthly

Port officials say about 500,000 tons of goods, most of it originating in the United States, pass through the Saigon waterfront every month. Some experts estimate that thieves get 20 per cent of it.

U.S. Navy sources in Washington say that figure is too high, but concede that around 6 per cent of strictly military cargo alone never reaches its destination. Eight months ago this figure was 11 to 12 per cent.

Across the river from downtown Saigon is the peninsula of An Khanh, the major staging area for smugglers and thieves. South Vietnamese customs officers stay away from An Khanh, where you can buy anything from an air conditioner to an automobile tire, all stolen.

An Khanh is where the divers live, too. They go down to the harbor bottom and retrieve goods chucked overboard by accomplices on ships waiting to unload.

They seem to work harder on An Khanh than they do on the Saigon docks.

One recent day along the Saigon wharves, Vietnamese stevedores squatted in the shade. A forklift operator slumped, snoring, in the seat of his machine.

In open spaces between the cargo sheds, piles of cracked wooden cases, piping, and rusted and broken equipment lay in apparent discard. Some of the cases bore the words "Fragile — Handle With Care."

Many Signs of Pilferage

There were plain signs of pilferage: a carton which had contained medicated powder, discarded and empty, boxes containing small motors ripped open and parts removed, packages of tire tubes rifled.

An American Military Policeman showed a reporter a tall cardboard case which he said had been looted of liquor by Vietnamese workers.

The Vietnamese police and Vietnamese MPs on duty at the gates leading to the street are supposed to check outgoing workers for stolen property.

But there is strong suspicion the Vietnamese guards are lackadaisical in their checkouts and some likely are taking a cut.

Patrol boats police the crowded river, but observers say there aren't nearly enough of them.

The hundreds of Vietnamese barges ferrying goods from ships in midriver to the docks are a major problem. Entire barges have vanished. Some may have been hijacked. Others probably were delivered into the hands of black market rings, enforcement officials said.

Late in September, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky became publicly indignant. His indignation followed the reported theft of tiles his wife had ordered for bathrooms in the new palace.

Ky was quoted as saying that a number of businessmen had "deliberately colluded" with thieves in an effort to dodge customs taxes and "to get their insurance compensation." No names were mentioned.

Papers Blast Thieves

Following up Ky's blast, government - censored Saigon papers ran front-page stories declaring that "well - organized" groups had stolen hundreds of millions of piasters worth of imports. At the official exchange, there are 118 piasters to a dollar.

Most imports are financed under the U.S. economic aid program.

Since early summer, the military command has assumed widening responsibility for supporting port clearance of AID goods.

In time, and with enough resources, this may cure many of the difficulties.

Qualified experts say there must be strong action at a high level to halt bickering here between U.S. Army port authorities and certain AID officials.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara indicated, during his recent visit here, that he wants the port cleared — and what McNamara wants, McNamara most usually gets.

Some specialists in dock operations believe that the only way to move the cargoes swiftly is to bring in American stevedores and American civilian managers, and that the only way to suppress the stealing is to have American security agencies take over the whole task of guarding the docks and warehouses.

Don't Know Geography

NEW DELHI (AP) — A New Delhi resident complained to a city newspaper that Indian postal authorities are NOT keeping up on their world geography. He said a letter addressed to Guayana, in South Aemrica, was returned marked "No such place." In their attempt to deliver the letter, postal authorities had scratched out "Guayana" and sent it to Gohana, in India's Punjab state. It was returned to the writer without having left India.

HINTS FROM Heloise

FROM HELOISE'S KITCHEN

Dear Ladies:

I have learned something that is real tricky, when you're making potato salad . . .

If you are fixing potato salad in the morning (and I think this is the best time to make it), boil your eggs and potatoes while you are washing dishes.

After making the salad, we usually cover it with a piece of plactic and put it in the refrigerator.

You sometimes find that moisture forms on the inside of the plastic and drips down onto the salad.

Here's what to do:

Put a paper towel or napkin over the top of the contents of the bowl first, and THEN put the plastic over it, the napkin will absorb the moisture that accumulates on the plastic.

Instead of having a waterlogged salad, you will have a delicious one, just as you prepared it!

I have tested this many times during the past three months, after making potato, macaroni and bean salads, etc.

Try it—I'm sure you'll be gald you did.

Dear Tillie:

That was a real letter of laughter! EVERYBODY has problems!

Dear Heloise:

Usually, when you find big, absorbent towels on sale, matching wash cloths and hand towels are not available.

So, why not buy an extra towel, and cut it down to make wash clothes and hand towels?

This doubles your savings, as you get at least three times as many wash cloths for the money than if they had been purchased separately.

They may either be hemmed on your machine, or, if you have the fancy zig-zag attachments, use them first, then cut the cloths.

Dear Heloise:

Why is it that our bull always chases me when I go into the field with a red jacket on? Is this why bullfighters use red capes?

Johnny McClendon

Dear Son:

Probably your bull chases you because it's you. I couldn't possibly be your red coat. Cows and bulls can't see red; Did you know that?

The reason a bull attacks a bullfighter's red cape is because it's moving, not because it's red!

And, your bull probably chases after you because you are moving. Try wearing a brown jacket. Bet he still chases you. If so, just wink at him . . . and run!

Dear Heloise:

Cover often-used, and consequently battered, books with scraps of wallpaper left after papering a room.

I covered a dictionary with left over scraps and it looks darling. The paper has a colorful red pattern and now the book adds a lively note to my room.

Dear Heloise:

When I buy shoes for my three children, I save the boxes to help in my household bookkeeping.

On an index card, I write the name of each weekly or monthly payment we make and file my payment books in the proper order. It is also a useful canceled check file, after the payments are made.

At the end of the year, this record is a great help when making out income tax returns.

I also have a box where I keep your hints!

Dear Gals:

Want to add a decorator's touch to your bathroom?

The next time you paper it, cut out one or more of the designs from your wallpaper (left-over paper, natch!) and glue it on the front of your plastic wastebasket, or plain-colored metal one.

A coat of colorless nailpolish or clear shellac will protect the pretty design, when washing the wastebasket.

Note 79 Arrests During October

A report by Police Chief Robert F. Murphy to the Board of Police Commissioners Thursday night noted 79 arrests in October and 35 persons injured in 21 traffic mishaps.

Arrests were 20 more than in September when 22 traffic accidents were reported but the injured totaled seven less than in October.

Of the October arrests 24 were for public intoxication, 11 for third degree assault, nine on fradulent check charges and seven for disorderly conduct.

Six were booked on robbery charges, four each for malicious mischief and failure to appear in court, and two each for possession of stolen property and malicious telephone calls. One arrest each was made for second degree assault, communicating with a prisoner, posession of narcotics, first degree robbery and violation of the curfew ordinance.

Of the accidents, 30 persons were injured in mishaps involving two or more vehicles, one person was hurt in a collision with a fixed object and four accidents involved pedestrians.

Also noted in the October report were 18 "moving" traffic violations and 48 infractions of the vehicle and traffic law.

The French background of Haiti dates to 1697 when, by the Treaty of Ryswick, Spain cede the island to France.

Drive Will Stress 'Lock Your Car' Week

Town of Poughkeepsie Police Chief Charles Schade has announced that his department will launch a "lock your car" campaign next week to emphasize to the public the necessity of locking their motor vehicles when parking on public streets or in lots.

Chief Schade said that any motorist who leaves a key in the ignition switch or parks a car without locking it securely "is contributing to automobile thefts."

Say Ulster House Fire Incendiary

A second incendiary fire in about two months early today caused further extensive damage to an unoccupied two-story frame house on Albany Avenue Extension near Wallace's store and gave firefighters from Kingston and Ulster Hose Co. 5 a hard fight to control the flames.

Acting Chief William Williams of Ulster Hose Co. said it was the second fire of suspicious origin to occur in the house, which has been hit on numerous occasions by vandals.

'Definitely Set'

"This fire was definitely set," the chief said. "The fire started upstairs, spread through the rooms and burned up through the roof." The house is owned by Harold Lewis of Woodmere, L. I., the chief noted.

A dispatcher at Central Fire Station in Kingston received a telephone call at 12:33 a. m. from an unidentified person who reported a house was afire on Albany Avenue near the city line.

Dispatched to the scene were Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station; Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Wiltwyck Station, Wicks Hose Co. 4 and Wicks Salvage Co. and Exelsior and Wiltwyck volunteer units.

Union Hose Co. 4 was assigned to Central Station to cover up and later Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers covered up at Wiltwyck Station.

Completely Involved

When firemen in command of Chief James M. Brett and Captain Harry Sills arrived at the scene of the blaze they found the upper part of the building completely involved in flames. Kingston firemen laid two 2½-inch hoselines and battled the flames until a call was sent by officers through Mutual Aid to summon Ulster Hose Co. which responded with three trucks.

Upon arrival of the Ulster Hose units, Kingston firemen turned the assignment over to Acting Chief Williams and other officers of the company.

The first call to Kingston firemen was received at 12:33 a. m. by telephone, followed by an alarm sent from Box 5621 at Albany and Roosevelt Avenues at 12:35 a. m. Kingston units were back in service at about 12:50 a. m.

Ulster Hose Co. reported back in service at about 3 a. m.

Dear Abby . . .

Here's What Makes a Good Marriage

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You are pretty good at getting right to the heart of things in very few words. Can you tell me why there is so much divorce today H.H.T.

DEAR H. H. T.: Most divorces result from the illusion that a "perfect" marriage is achievable, and anything less is a failure. Consequently, when each discovers the inevitable human imperfections in the other, he becomes disillusioned, resentful, and frustrated. Then two otherwise normal, intelligent people who, at one time "loved" each other enough to marry, become part-time strangers and sometime enemies.

Married couples should realize that a successful marriage is like a successful business partnership. It cannot succeed without mutual trust, confidence, and respect. And the sooner the "partners" get down to the business of making the best of the most challenging relationship in all human experience — marriage — the sooner we can turn our divorce courts into bowling alleys. And I'm all for it.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When being introduced to a person, is it proper to say, "I've heard a lot about you?" HAL

DEAR HAL: It all depends on what you've heard.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband has one habit which worries me to death. He keeps a cigar or pipe clamped between his teeth while pouring gasoline into the tank of the power lawn mower, or filling the gasoline tank of our boat. When I fuss he says I am getting all excited about nothing because his cigar or pipe is not lit.

I grant you, I can't see a flame, but when I grab them out of his mouth, the cigar or pipe are still warm. Please print this and ask your readers to write in and tell you if these circumstances have ever caused injury or loss of life. Or am I getting excited about nothing? STILL WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Where there's smoke there COULD BE fire, but I'll leave this to the experts. In the meantime, I'd say your husband has developed a bad habit. There's always the chance that the fire isn't "out" as he thinks it is.

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOTHING TO WEAR:" Wear a smile. It will do more for your appearance than a new dress.

Ask Milk Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A delegation representing the Eastern Milk Producers Association has asked the Department of Agriculture to raise the price of class-one milk a dollar per hundredweight from December through June 1967.

More than 250 dairymen and others from New York State, Pennsylvania and Vermont presented that demand Thursday to the department, which is holding a hearing on milk prices. They asked the hundredweight price be raised from $5.20.

John C. York, the general manager of the milk cooperative, said that more producers would testify at today's hearing.

Among the witnesses appearing Thursday were:

—Harold M. Carson, Newbury, Vt., who said a milk-pricing system that returns dairymen 52 cents an hour is a "ridiculous wage."

Bids Rocky Delay

9W at the bridge circle. This might be done through an overhead ramp, same merchants believe.

After reviewing the revised plan for Kingston Arterial Route for re-location of Route 9W, the Ulster Business Men's Association directed Louis Gruberg, chairman of the Association Traffic Committee, to seek a postponment of any public hearing on the project pending further study.

The communication said that since the non-access highway cuts through the heart of the Town of Ulster regional commercial and business area it is "imperative that the imminent public hearing on this portion of the project be ordered postponed by you until a complete investigation can be made by your office and by our township."

The arterial plan was recently revised by the Department of Public Works in minor details. A copy of such revision was received by the town officials on November 10.

Set For January 8th

This revised plan has proved totally unsatisfactory and allegedly creates three major problems.

In seeking a postponment of any public hearing on the matter, tentatively set for some time in January, the Business Men's Association charges that the plan proposed would "landlock hundreds of acres of valuable commercial land vital to the soundness of our economic community structure."

Secondly it proposes "to make a virtual dead-end highway out of the present Route 9W which is the sole artery of access for the regional commercial area in which are already situated many newly constructed major commercial enterprises as well as many new local businesses.

In the third case "it does not provide for an adequate access to the already existing regional commercial and industrial area."

"It is our considered opinion that the present state highway Route 9W and Route 209 lying in our regional commercial and industrial area immediately to the north of the City of Kingston are in desperate need of refurnishment in order that the present property tax base may be maintained for the public welfare of the community," the appeal states:

Suggests Personal Check

It is suggested that Gov. Rockefeller designate a member of his exective staff to make a personal investigation of this critical matter and allow representatives of the Business Men's Association to confer with the governor's office.

Proposals and responses which the community have received from the State Department of Public Works are called "unrealistic and unduly detrimental to this thriving community" by the members of the Business Men's Association.

The appeal for a postponment of the public hearing and for an investigation by the governor's office was sent to Gov. Rockefeller in a night letter authorized by the Association following a meeting this week.

5,949 Is U. S. Combat Toll In Viet War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American deaths from all causes in Viet Nam now average slightly more than four a day since the first U.S. soldier, Spec. 4 James T. Davis of Livingston, Tenn., was killed in a Viet Cong ambush Dec. 22, 1961.

The total as of last Saturday was 7,292.

With casualties announced Thursday the Saigon count of combat dead, which has risen sharply with the increased American involvement this year, stood at 5,949. The Pentagon disclosed deaths from accidents and other nonhostile causes had climbed to 1,343.

MarbletownBoard Gives Tax Relief To 65-Year Olds

The proposal to give partial tax relief to those 65 years of age and over, meeting the various requirements as set up by the state legislature in the law passed in June, was unanimously adopted by the Marbletown Town Board.

The required public hearing on the measure was previously held on Oct. 25, at which time no one opposed it. The measure will give up to 50 per cent exemption on town general, highway and welfare taxes.

The tax relief measure is administered by the Town Board of Assessors. All who believe they may be eligible are required to file an application form with the assessors after the first of the year and prior to May 1. The Town of Marbletown assessors will announce a schedule to help applicants in the processing of the application forms.

Includes Year's Study

The Italian plan would have the assembly set up a committee to make a 12-month study of the China question and recommend a solution.

Informed sources said the United States opposed this idea at first, but agreed to accept the proposal when it began picking up support.

The sources said the two-China scheme was not featured in the proposal for fear of scaring off supporters.

Canada and a number of other western nations which have voted against Peking in the past are said to favor some sort of approach to the two-China plan. Both Peking and Taipei have said repeatedly they would not agree to any such solution.

The assembly also has before it a resolution sponsored by the United States and 12 other nations. Aimed at blocking the pro-Peking proposal, it would reaffirm that a two-thirds vote is needed to decide the question of China's U.N. representation. The two-thirds rule was applied last year and Peking was defeated on a 47-47 tie vote.

feet of water Thursday. Almost 19,000 acres of land were inundated and several tiny villages isolated. At Porto Tolle, flooded since Nov. 5, houses crumbled.

Soldiers and local volunteers evacuated hundreds by boat and by truck along a single road that remained open.

The stormy weather over most of northeast Italy Thursday came as a bitter blow to thousands of the country's flood victims.

Soften Mudslides

Rain softened mudslides farther to the north in Dolomite Valleys, and as much as 15 inches of snow fell on high mountain slopes, cutting off some villages near Austria.

In Rome, parliamentary leaders and some Socialists suggested that the government float a 30-year international loan to repair flood damage, but Premier Aldo Moro rejected the idea.

The government ordered a 10 per cent hike in income taxes last week and raised gasoline taxes to finance an $800 million flood disaster program.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was lower early this afternoon but the pace of trading had slackened.

Fairly sharp losses were shown both by blue chips and glamor stocks, including the selected issues which were pounded so severely Thursday.

The list was lower from the start as it resumed its retreat of the previous session. Here and there some stocks held their own or even posted small gains, but the recovery movement was feeble.

As trading entered the afternoon, losses worsened. Declins of fractions to 2 or 3 points appeared among the oustanding key stocks.

Declines running to several points were shown by the high-flying glamor stocks in electronics, office equipment and aerospace.

News that housing construction in October had fallen to its lowest level in 20 years was a discouraging bit of news.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.4 at 297.7 with industrials off 3.5, rails off .1 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 5.29 at 810.74.

Among issues severely mauled Thursday, Fairchild Camera extended its loss of 19⅝ by nearly 5 points; Motorola added half a dozen points to its drop of 10½, and Texas Instruments extended its decline of 15⅜ by another point or so.

Denials of rumors that there would be further, broad price cuts in integrated circuitry did not help the stocks which were dumped so heavily in the previous session.

A 3-point loss by Du Pont and declines of more than a point by Eastman Kodak and Kennecott dampened the averages.

Supervisors . . .

lution was a "new resolution" and was properly before the board.

Amendments Defeated

Mabie then moved to refer the Rapp resolution to the College committee and for the substitution of the name of van-Benschoten, Hutton and Mayer. The amendments were defeated.

During the discussion Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, called the text of the third paragraph of the Rapp resolution an "outright lie" and also stated that some supervisors had probably been "greased" in their decisions for selection of an architect.

Majestic's statement in regard to someone being "greased" brought forth a challenge for him to "prove it" and threats of possible other action.

The paragraph which Majestic referred to was that the trustees had "ignored the clear direction to employ a local architect and indicated their selection of a non-local person."

Mabie attacked the action of the board on the grounds the trustees had spent considerable time interviewing architects and after such interviews had come up with a selection. He charged that Board of Supervisor members had spent "not one moment" in interviewing architects but now came up with a selection contrary to the recommendations of the trustees.

Rapp countered that the resolution called for the selection of an architect which the trustees had once previously recommended as college architect. At that time the board failed to follow the trustees suggestion and named the Schrowang firm of Kingston as architects for Phase I.

Decried Action

Mabie called the whole matter a "fine kettle of fish" and remarked that the college trustees were "leading citizens of the community" and he said the rejection of their recommendations for architect was "a slap in the face." He decried the board's action in taking back the power which the board had delegated to the trustees. Mabie said the trustees had interviewed various architects and had gone into the problem of qualifications. He strenuously defended the right of the trustees to make the selection.

Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), Plattekill, said there was some confusion in selection of an architect among the trustees. He said the selection by the trustees had been by a "split vote," and he said the board of supervisors perhaps had been "in error" to delegate to the trustees the power to select an architect.

On the vote several supervisors sought to explain their vote. Majestic said the supervisors did not have the courage to dismiss one architect and passed it on to the board of trustees to select another architect. He said the trustees act should be supported. Supervisor John Sangaline (R), Third Ward, said he supported the selection of Milliken because he was "recommended by the state."

Rapp defended his resolution on the ground the board of trustees of the college "had not lived up to the resolution of the board" when it was suggested a local architect be selected.

Depends on Funds

Rapp's resolution called for the rescinding of the former resolution No. 63, which gave the trustees power to select an architect and provided that Albert E. Milliken be selected but that "no contract with said Albert E. Milliken, architect, shall be entered into, nor shall any services be performed by him until such time as the necessary financing for said Phase II of the construction shall have been provided for according to law" and until the contract is approved by the New York State Education Department and other agencies participating in the construction of Phase II.

The resolution also provides that in the event the contract is entered into then the architect "shall report directly to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and, or, its designee or designees."

The resolution calling for adoption of Local Law No. 1, relating to tax exemption for citizens 65 years of age or older who have an income of $3,000 or less, was offered by Supervisor Peter Savago (R), New Paltz, and unanimouly adopted.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R) 12th Ward offered a suggestion while casting his vote that such elder citizens should be "wholly exempt from payment of school tax." This theory Raichle said was based on the fact that at that age the children of the exempted citizens would have completed school and the elder citizens should not be required to pay for cost of school construction for future use. If required to pay 50 per cent of school tax, Raichle said, these senior citizens would soon have to pay as much school tax as they pay now before the exemption and they would be getting little tax relief.

Passed Unanimously

Unanimously approved was a resolution offered by Supervisor Douglas Dye (R), Town of Kingston, which authorizes the chairman of the board to enter into a contract with the governing authorities of the Albany Penitentiary and the Orange County jail for care of prisoners from Ulster County. This action had been recommended to the board last February by Sheriff William B. Martin and is also the recommendation of the State Department of Correction to the Sheriff's Committee of the Board of Supervisors.

Local prisoners serving more then 30 days may be transferred to the two jails thus relieving the overcrowded condition at the Ulster County Jail where upwards of 80 prisoners have been confined in quarters designed for 42.

At the conclusion of the business to come before the special session, the board adjourned to meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. when the annual session will be continued.

state police barracks, because the youth was unable to operate the unregistered vehicle. Yesterday when Gustafson went to claim the car troopers noticed a similar resemblance between him and the alleged robber as described by the victim of the holdup.

Tallied With Description

Gustafson's automobile also tallied with a description of the getaway car given by the service station attendant.

Zone Commander Lieut. Samuel Crodelle and Senior BCI Investigator Joseph Leary detained the Cold Spring youth for questioning.

BCI Investigators Wesley Nolan, Michael McCauley, Gil Olsen and Albert Vischiarelli joined in the interrogation of the suspect and later Gustafson was booked on a charge of first degree robbery.

Waives Hearing

Arraigned before Judge Williams on the felony charge Gustafson waived preliminary hearing and was committed to the county jail in Poughkeepsie to await grand jury action. Bail was fixed at $5,000.

After the holdup last Friday night, the owner of the service station told a reporter that the holdup was the first to be staged at his place in several years. "It'll be the last one, too," Talbot said. "We won't be open nights any more."

Realtors Conclude Parley With Pledge

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The nation's real estate men ended their national convention with a pledge to continue their fight against open-housing legislation.

The realtors, representing some 83,000 members across the nation, passed a resolution pledging "aggressive resistance to any action which would vest in government, at any level, control over the sale or rental of private property."

The resolution was adopted at Thursday's final session shortly after Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, asked the delegates to support the government's open-housing policies.

"It is urgent. It is legally mandatory. It is morally right. And, furthermore, it is good business," Weaver said.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — About 21,000 political posters have been hauled to a Phoenix dump and bulldozed under the sod.

Republican central committee officials reported Thursday they had paid $1,050 to persons who gathered up the posters of both parties. A nickel-per-poster bounty was offered by the committee.

Warships Renew

struck today in Tay Ninh Province for the ninth consecutive day in support of Operation Attleboro, the 30,000-man hunt by U.S. ground forces to flush the Viet Cong out of a major stronghold 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

Enemy Toll Over 1,000

Only light ground contact was reported in Operation Attleboro, but U.S. headquarters announced that the number of enemy killed so far in the month-old operation passed the 1,000 mark.

The U.S. force in Tay Ninh reported killing about 20 more Viet Cong by air strikes and small ground clashes. This raised to 1,009 the total enemy officially reported killed since the operation started Oct. 15.

Locate Cong Base

Troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, combing areas east and northeast of Tay Ninh City, located a Viet Cong base camp today with a large hospital building and a tunnel complex, U.S. headquarters reported.

Other units found 15 enemy bunkers in a nearby site and another infantry company seized half a ton of rice. The rice haul for the operation, already the largest of the war, rose to 2,329 tons.

U. S. headquarters reported that Viet Cong guerrillas early today infiltrated the U.S. ammunition dump at Long Binh, 13 miles northeast of Saigon, and set off a satchel charge on one of the ammunition pads which touched off a fire and secondary explosions.

Vietnamese military headquarters reported that a company of Vietnamese Rangers suffered moderate casualties when ambushed 12 miles southwest of Saigon. The Rangers killed six Viet Cong, a spokesman said.

The Viet Cong set off a mine in a village market 102 miles southwest of Saigon, killing one civilian and wounding two women.

Dissident Named

In the cabinet shakeup, Deputy Premier Nguyen Luu Vien, a dissident southerner who made his peace with Ky, was named to head a new ministry of culture.

Dr. Nguyen Van Tho was named minister of education. Nguyen Xuan Phong became minister of social welfare and Col. Ho Van Di Hinh was named youth minister.

The important economy ministry was split into a ministry of commerce, led by Nguyen Kien Thien An, and a ministry of handicraft and industry, with Truong Thai Ton as acting minister. Ton, secretary of state in Ky's office and the premier's financial adviser had been acting economy minister. Sources said he would stay in the ministry only until a substitute can be found.

Labor Boss May Quit

There were also reports that the labor minister might resign. That would bring to six the number of ministers who quit in the dispute.

The southerners have charged that the northerners who dominate the ruling junta were harassing them and using police state methods. Ky's regime has not been threatened by the dispute, as the cabinet has little more than an advisory role.

The constituent assembly preparing a new constitution recessed for two weeks after meeting Thursday for the first time in a week and budgeting $110,169 for 17 official automobiles.

Better Late Than Never

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some 65 persons were expected to leave today for a trip to the New York Worlds Fair — if the weather is nice and everyone feels like going.

If they don't go, nobody in the group will take it too seriously because they're members of the Procrastinator's Club, said Les Waas of suburban Huntingdon Valley, Pa., president of the group.

The club has been planning the World's Fair trip for some time (the two-year fair ended in 1965), said Waas, but waited until now because "we have been led to believe that the lines will be very short on this day."

Specialty Food Stock Should Regain Favor

Q) "If you go along with me, I want to buy into J. M. Smucker, because one of these days I think it will be gobbled up by one of the big food chains. What can you tell me about it?" B.S.

A) Whatever there is to tell you seems promising. I would buy the stock on its own merits, however, rather than pin hopes on any possible future merger. The issue is in an industry which is attracting investors after prolonged market dullness. Smucker is acquiring smaller companies to broaden its product line by adding pickles, salad dressing, ketchup and peanut butter to its quality jams, jellies and ice cream toppings.

Since 1958, with but one exception, earnings have moved up consistently and another good year is expected in fiscal 1967, ending next April. Smucker has paid a steadily rising dividend and now yields about three per cent. Increases have been declared yearly since 1960, and it is possible that the 1966 year-end declaration will follow the pattern.

Q) "For several years we have been buying stock in our children's names to be used for their college education. We now hold Tri-Continental Corp., Madison Fund, Dominick Fund and Equity Corp. Please comment on this selection." R.L.

A) I can readily understand your reasoning in choosing these investment companies as long-term growth equities for your children's educational fund. However, I am not in favor of committing so much of your capital to a single investment medium.

Of your selections, I consider Equity Corporation too speculative for your purpose and advise switching it into fewer shares of Plough, Inc., strong in drugs and toiletries. It would also be well to give your portfolio better balance by substituting for Dominick Fund a strong industrial situation such as Proctor and Gamble. Your remaining holdings of Tri-Continental Corp. and Madison Fund will give you plenty of diversification.

President Feels

gressing." And there was no word to the contrary today.

Johnson did a bit of his progressing at a party in his Bethesda Naval Hospital suite, marking the 32nd anniversary of his marriage to Lady Bird.

It got under way late because the President napped until early evening.

Dons Street Clothes

When he awoke, Johnson donned street clothes for the first time since his surgery Wednesday morning.

The double operation removed a growth from his right vocal cord and repaired a rupture in the year-old scar left by his gall bladder operation.

"It hurts all the time," Johnson remarked at the anniversary party. The President said he has pains in his side, his throat, his right arm and his legs.

And Johnson said he is trying to keep busy because it keeps his mind off the aches and pains.

Voice Low, Husky

Johnson talked in a low, husky voice. When he saw reporters jotting down his remarks, he cautioned them, "I don't want anyone to report I made a major speech. I am prohibited from making major speeches."

Johnson's doctors want him to spare his voice as much as possible, and to make no speeches for four to five weeks.

The President said the polyp removed from his throat had been bothering him for years — as long ago as 1960, when he was campaigning for the vice presidency. But he said it had come and gone during those years. It was spotted by his doctors in August.

Tonal Quality May Change

Johnson said the doctors told him there may be a different tonal quality to his voice when his throat heals.

The President has not said when he will leave his $45-a-day hospital suite. When he does, he plans to head for his LBJ Ranch in Texas.

Johnson saw a stream of visitors and White House aides during his work-and-nap second day of recuperation. For the first time since the operation, he saw Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Stream of Visitors

He heard a report on the economic situation and possible spending cuts from Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and other top advisers. The White House said the advisers, not the President, did most of the talking.

Among the other hospital visitors, Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and House Democratic Leader Carl B. Albert — who said it was the first time he had ever done most of the talking in a conversation with Johnson.

At day's end, the President talked a bit about his job:

"I have the best job in the world. I must have — so many of them want it."

Then he smiled. "What other guy would have a job where he could sleep for 3½ hours in the afternoon?" he asked.

Dividend Declared By Victory Markets

Directors of the Victory Markets Inc. meeting Wednesday declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 10 cents per share on its stock; payable Dec. 15, 1966 to stockholders of record on Nov. 21, 1966. This dividend makes payments for the year 1966 of 40 cents per share, which is a 28 per cent increase over the dividends paid for the year 1965, adjusted for the stock split in September 1965.

Charles A. Smith, chairman of the board and treasurer, reported new sales records. Sales for 43 weeks, 1966 were $54,672,590, which was an increase of $4,968,803, or 10 per cent over the same period in 1965.

$9,000 Is Pledged For Data on Killer

CLOQUET, Minn. (AP) — Residents of this northern Minnesota town pledged today more than $9,000 to a Chamber of Commerce reward fund for information leading to the killer of a pretty, talented ninth-grade girl.

Police were awaiting a pathologist's report on whether the girl, Kathleen Bodie, 14, had been raped. They also were seeking a youth who reportedly dodged across Highway 33 in front of a school bus shortly after the slaying.

The girl's nude body was found in a pool of blood on the band room stage at Cloquet High School early Thursday, just 25 minutes after her father, Russell Bodie, had dropped her off at the school to practice a flute before classes.

Fined on One Charge

He was charged with failure to produce an operator's license, with driving an uninspected vehicle and having unsafe tires. The fine was for the latter and hearing of the other two was put over to Nov. 25. Ronald D. McElrath, 18, of 43 Derrenbacher Street, charged with having no license plate light, was fined $5.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lloyd of Framingham, Mass. Dr. Garrison is a former Kingston resident and former pastor of the Brookline Baptist Church. He is minister of Community Witness of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention.

Soloists for the occasion were Miss Cheryl L. Thomas, cousin of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin J. Thomas of Sunset Park, Kingston and Mrs. William Davidson of Sellersville, Pa.

White spider chrysanthemums, pompons and ferns decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by John T. Rogers of Culpeper, Va., uncle of the bride, the bride wore a traditional white satin gown with empire waistline, sheath skirt, Alencon and Venice lace at the neckline and hemline. Her court train was trimmed with lace and a crown of pearls and crystals held a double veil of silk illusion in shoulder length. Kingston Girl With Peace Corps; Has Feature Story Printed

MISS MERRILY WARREN

Miss Merrily Warren, daughter of Mrs. Julia F., and the late Stanton Warren, of 41 Pearl Street, now a member of the Peace Corps stationed at Naga City, Philippines since September, where she is teaching composition and literature, was the subject of an article published in the school paper there. She will be at her present assignment in the Peace Corps for a two year period.

The interesting article about Miss Warren paid a high tribute to the young Kingston girl.

"A Peace Corps Volunteer's life involves meeting different types of people, and this needs the ability to adjust. But Miss Warren, the latest addition to the two "old" PCV's (Messrs., Arnold Glim and James Johnson) seems to be getting along well with her new environment in so short a time since her arrival", the article states.

"Miss Warren arrived in the Philippines on Sept. 14, but she came to Naga City last September 29. She was given a welcome party by the English Faculty Club next day. Part of the program was a recitation and interpretation of the "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer with Mrs. Albaladejo painting, Mrs. Zaens playing the piano, Mrs. Fresnido singing, and Noble reciting. A luncheon of native dishes was served after the program.

"Merrily — that's her first name (People won't believe me if I tell them I feel sad, she said, 'because of my name'), is very much single. She hails from Kingston, a town 90 miles from New York City. Majoring in English, she finished her Bachelor of Arts course at Trinity College in Vermont.

"Miss Warren spends her leisure hours in reading poetry, especially free verse. She also goes dancing. What dance, for example? 'I just love dancing' so she said.

"When asked what her likes are, she replied, 'I like everybody.' She doesn't have any dislikes then, as can be deducted from her answer.

"Any relationship with U. S. Chief Justice Earl Warren?

"He's my uncle" she said, but later confessed that her answer was just a joke. The chief justice is no kin of hers, just as Jim Johnson has no blood relationship with President Lyndon Johnson.

"No she hasn't any comment about the Philippines. 'People here are friendly' was all she said regarding Philipinos. She doesn't know Bicol dialect yet, but 'nag-aadal.'

"Miss Warren claims she had no time to think about her ideal man. She's still too young to settle down anyway, being just a score two years old. She's staying in our school for two years to teach Composition and Literature. She's such a charming and intelligent teacher, and you are lucky if you'll be a student of hers.

"It's said that beauty and brains seldom go together, but definitely not with our new PCV faculty member," the article concludes.

Bard College Receives $1,000 Sears Grant; Second Grant From Esso Education Group

Bard College received $1,000 from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation this week. An unrestricted grant, the money will be applied to Bard's general fund, contributing to such critical needs of the College as its scholarship fund for deserving undergraduates.

Another grant was received by Bard from the Esso Education Foundation. A total of 64 awards from Esso went to 47 colleges and universities in the two states of New York and New Jersey.

Commenting on the gift from Sears, President Reamer Kline said, "We are aware of the common stake in the values of our society which are shared by both private institutions of higher education and outstanding business corporations and are deeply grateful to the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for its support of the Bard program."

The current grant is the fourth such Sears-Roebuck Foundation gift which Bard has received since 1962. The earlier grants helped extend the College's program of adult education for the local community and also supplemented Bard's scholarship funds.

The 1966 gift was given to President Kline by Robert G. March, local representative of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation. Mr. March is also manager of the new Sears, Roebuck & Co. Store in the Kingston Plaza Shopping Center, Kingston.

Bard received its grant under the Sears-Roebuck Foundation's continuing program of aid to privately supported colleges and universities. Bard is one of 28 participating institutions in New York State to receive Sears-Roebuck aid. Altogether more than 600 United States colleges and universities will share $1,000,000 from the foundation.

Korea's Folk Dance Company at College On November 29th

The Korean folk dance company, The Little Angels, composed of highly-talented girls from 8 to 14 years of age, and seven selected musicians from the faculty of the Korean National Court Music Academy in Seoul will open the 1966 State University College, New Paltz, Artist Series on Nov. 29 at 8:30 p. m. in the Elting Gymnasium.

Under the guidance of Korea's foremost choreographer, Sung Ok Park, and Miss Soon Shim Shin, her country's most celebrated and distinguished dancer, "The Little Angels" will present traditional Korean dances rooted in more than 2000 years of antiquity. The performers were selected on the basis of a series of nation-wide contests and have been training for four years for their appearances in the United States, including one on the Ed Sullivan television show last year.

The works to be performed have been called "vigorous and direct, instantly communicated and evocative to people of all civilizations, and often spectacularly theatrical."

Adding to the appeal of the dances are the exotic costumes and the music, folk-like in character, played on more than fifty different instruments.

The performances in America are sponsored by the Korean Cultural and Freedom Foundation, Inc., whose honorary presidents are former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Reserved seat tickets may be obtained at the College Box Office Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 21-22 and 28-29, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Viano Will Tour Russia With Chorus

RICHARD J. VIANO

Richard J. Viano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Viano of 22 Willow Street, Gloversville, and the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Viano Sr., of Hurley, has been chosen to be a member of the New England Conservatory Chorus which is touring the Soviet Union and Spain now through December 11.

The tour is taken under the auspices of the Cultural Presentations Program of the U. S. Department of State. The New England Conservatory of Boston is conducting the tour.

Lorna Cooke Devaron, conductor of the chorus, reportedly is the first woman conductor to go to Russia in a professional capacity. The chorus is the first independent American conservatory chorus to participate in such a concert tour.

The chorus includes 15 instrumentalists and provides its own musical accompaniment. A formal concert tour of Russia by the chorus was requested in 1960 by five Russian composers, including Dmitri Shostakovitch and Dmitri Kabalevsky, who heard a performance by the chorus while they were visiting the United States.

Viano is in his second year at the conservatory, working for an undergraduate degree in cello. He has studied with Richard Kapuscinski and Benjamin Zander of the Conservatory Symphony. He is with the group as one of the instrumentalists.

Nurses' Association Has Meeting Here; Lecture By Robbins

District 11 Nurses' Association held its monthly meeting at the Kingston Hospital, Wednesday, Nov. 9. A lecture was given by Dr. Ronald Robbins, Clinical Psychologist, Astor Home. His topic was Residential Treatment of the Emotionally Disturbed Child. He showed slides of the children participating in varied activities ranging from winter sports to sophisticated Christmas parties. Besides explaining the combined education and therapeutic techniques in the treatment of these children, he discussed the parents' roll in getting the child ready to cope with ordinary daily activities that a child without problems would be able to handle.

The meeting was well attended. The senior nursing students of Kingston Hospital were present as guests of the District.

Plans for a dinner meeting to be held on January 11, 1967, are being formulated. All nurses in Ulster and Greene Counties, whether they are members of District 11 or not, are cordially invited. All interested nurses may contact Mrs. Lillian Cicoria or Mrs. Marion Ostrander for details and reservations.

Crispell Family Sets Meeting Date

Members and prospective members of the Crispell Family Association will hold a special meeting in New Paltz on Huguenot Street, Saturday, Nov. 19 at 2 p. m.

The Crispells will first have lunch at the Old Fort at 12:30 p. m. The meeting will be held in Deyo Hall, Brodhead Avenue at 2 p. m. It is hoped that at this meeting a group of Duzine members can be selected (advisors) from the various geographic areas of the nation. By-Laws will be brought before the group for discussion. Plans will be made to improve the work of the group.

The Pennsylvania group has not as yet had the opportunity to come to New Paltz. There is another group of Crispells in Sullivan County. As the members of the family are widely scattered throughout the country it is hoped that all who are related to the family will advise Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, 14 Forest Glen Road, New Paltz, N. Y. about the addresses. Materials will then be sent out to the members of the family as the genealogical data is needed for the book being prepared.

Even though a person cannot attend the luncheon it is hoped that he or she will come to the meeting.

Officers of the Family Association include Reuben B. Crispell, president; Herman Crispell, treasurer; Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, temporary secretary.

WOODY ROMOFF AND SYLVIA SIDNEY in a scene from Neil Simon's comedy hit, BAREFOOT IN THE PARK which will be presented on the stage of Community theatre Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 8.40 p. m. The Simon comedy is being sent here by Saint Subber, producer of the original New York production as part of a nation-wide tour with stage and screen Sylvia Sidney in the main role—that of a matron of pronounced ladylike gentility who gamely tries not to appear too startled by the wacky domestic arrangements set up by her newly married daughter. Woody Romoff portrays a charming deadbeat neighbor, a connoisseur of exotic foods who keeps insisting, possibly too much, that he's really a very nice fellow. Reservations may be made at the Community Theatre.

'Meet the Artist' Program at UCCC

A "Meet the Artist" program, featuring Julio De Diego, a world renowned artist, is planned for tonight at 7 o'clock in Room 34 at Ulster County Community College, 214 West Chestnut Street.

Mr. DeDiego, who resides in Woodstock, has the topic, "The Life of an Artist." He will touch on his own remarkable art career and also will discuss, with the aid of slides, the Black Period of Goya as seen from his works in the Prada Museum in Spain.

The lecture will be a highlight of an exhibition of paintings and sculpture of Woodstock artists, including DeDiego, which will be on display in Gallery Hall at the Colege unti November 23.

The lecture was arranged by Professor Ruth Muroff, A.I.D., Coordinator of the Arts at the College, who said there will be a reception after the talk so members of the audience can meet the artist.

Asa youth, Julio became a scenery painter for the operas in Madrid, Spain. He later played a villian in a Spanish movie, then joined the Spanish Army for a tour of duty. After his military services, he traveled in Europe and North Africa to paint, to meet various artists and to try to make a living.

DeDiego came to the U. S. in 1924 after receiving an inheritance from his father's estate. He traveled between New York, Chicago and Florida, working as a theater scene designer, newspaper fashion illustrator, graphic artist, portraitist of movie stars, pantomime actor, and a writer for a Spanish motion picture journal.

In 1926, he gave up advertising art to devote himself to painting. When the Depression came, Julio went to work for the WPA, doing U. S. street scenes, landscapes and murals.

In World War II, he withdrew to his studio to paint "a war I did not see, but a war I felt." With the technique of the Spanish masters and the memory of Goya's "Disasters of War," he won acclaim with a series in which unearthly creatures marched and attacked in the eerie portrayal of all wars.

In the early 1960's, he scored another major triumph with his drawings of the sailing of the Spanish Armada. Although most of his paintings of the Armada's struggle are small, they do not detract from their impact of the struggle of the ships against wind and fire in a kind of wild dance. One of these paintings, "Before the Winds," now is on exhibit at Ulster County Community College.

Today at 66, DeDiego fits into no easy pigeonhole as an artist and is far from what is commonly considered the mainstream of modern art. He is a traditionalist at heart—and one of the best—yet he is not afraid to pursue an accentric notion wherever it may lead.

20th Century Club Hears Paper Given On Liberty Statue

Twentieth Century Club met on Monday, Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs. Adam H. Porter on St. James Street, Kingston. Miss Frances Osterhoudt presided and during the business session appointed Mrs. Porter and Mrs. William J. Soper to serve as Christmas Cheer Committee. Club members also voted to continue their support of the C.A.R.E. program.

At the close of the meeting, there was a unanimous vote to receive Mrs. Edith Case Murphy into Club membership.

Mrs. Porter's paper titled "The Statue of Liberty" revealed some of the lesser known facts concerning the 151 foot colossus which has stood, a symbol of Freedom, over New York harbor the past 80 years. The French sculptor Frederic Auguste Bartholdi was largely responsible for the success of the gift plan in France, personally supervising the collection, by voluntary donation of the $400,000 needed by the French nation to make the gift to the United States in commemoration of the centenary of its independence.

Help is again being asked to finish construction of the American Museum of Immigration now being built in the base of the statute. The museum will dramatize the story of the millions of immigrants who have come to our shores in search of freedom and opportunity. Medallions are being struck off as keepsakes and are available at modest prices at Gimbel's in New York City. The medallions are of bronze or silver and picture the Statue of Liberty with some of the huddled masses spoken of in Emma Lazaras' poem, "Give me your tired, your poor—".

The next meeting of Twentieth Century Club will be held Nov. 28 at the home of Mrs. Alexander Goercke, 176 Smith Avenue. Mrs. Goercke will present the program paper titled, "The Amish".

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

HOW DOES TEETOTALER JOIN IN TOAST WITHOUT VIOLATING HIS PLEDGE

The following letter has been chosen as the most interesting one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to the writer.

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper thing for a person to do who has conscientious scruples against the use of alcoholic drinks — or is an alcoholic and dares not touch it — when a toast is offered, as is often done at a wedding reception? Should he raise his glass without tasting it, seek a glass of water to use, or is something else proper? One desires to offer no discourtesy to the couple honored, or to even inferentially rebuke them for drinking, but has, for himself, made a pledge to refrain from such drinks. I believe there are others who would like to know what is the correct thing to do. — E. J.

Dear E. J.: The very best solution would be to quietly ask a waiter to bring you a champagne glass filled with ginger ale as the appearance is so similar to champagne that it arouses no question or comment. If that is impossible, there is always some soft drink or even water available. Failing any chance of getting a substitute for the wine, simply raise the glass toward the person being toasted and then toward your mouth as if to sip. Believe me, no one will notice that you are not drinking. May I congratulate you on upholding your convictions?

Absent Husband

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is in the Army, stationed in Germany. When I send cards to people we know, such as sympathy or wedding cards, how do I sign them? Should I sign both our names, even though everyone knows that he is not here, or should I sign my own name? —Mrs. M. Coen

Dear Mrs. Coen: I would sign my husband's name too, if I were you. But if you feel that that seems strange, say something like "John wishes he could be here to send congratulations himself, etc.," and then sign your name alone.

Quiet Marriage Needed

Dear Mrs. Post: After having an affair with a married man, having a baby by him, and giving the baby away, is it all right (a few months later) for the girl to marry another boy in a church wedding, or should she be married at home with just a few friends. — Wondering

Dear Wondering: For the sake of everyone involved in the unfortunate affair, she should definitely be married quietly at home, or, if she prefers, in a private ceremony in a chapel.

Claims Political Crisis Only Block To Brandt's Party

By MARTIN ZUCKER

BERLIN (AP)—Mayor Willy Brandt declared today that his Social Democrat party can be kept out of the new West German government only by perpetuation of the political crisis. Franz Josef Strauss, the new kingmaker of the Christian Democrats, also appeared to favor coalition with Brandt's party.

Kurt Georg Kiesinger, the Christian Democrat candidate for chancellor, met in Bonn with Erich Mende, chairman of the small Free Democratic party.

Political negotiations are expected to mark time, however, until after the Bavarian elections Sunday.

Brandt, opening the seventh congress of Social Democrat parties in the six Common Market countries, said a new government "without decisive Social Democratic participation" will be "very difficult" to form.

"A government without or against the Social Democrats," he continued, "is today only possible if the men of the old coalition were determined to pertetuate the crisis. I believe that they would not succeed."

Describing coalition talks, Strauss said they "belong to the most interesting hours of my parliamentary career." But later he told an audience in Weilheim, where he was campaigning for the Bavarian elections, such a coalition would be logical only if the parties came to grips with legislative matters

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — We are approaching now the season of the annual economic outlook, a time when the oracles forecast conditions for the next year. Generally they expect 1967 to be much like 1966.

A forecast that calls for a continuation of existing conditions generally is the easiest to make. It is more difficult to call a turn, to forecast a reversal. And then there are other unnerving factors.

Offers Advice

A well-known private economist was offered expert legal advice that persons "pretending to forecast the future" might be deemed criminals under his state's laws and fined $250 and perhaps sent to jail for six months.

He continued, nevertheless, as do thousands of others, to make his forecast.

The first of them, now making the rounds, generally foresee a Gross National Product of $790 billion for 1967. That would mean a rise in the total output of goods and services of $50 billion—an impressive increase.

However, this 7 per cent increase may be a bit illusory, for 3 per cent of it is expected to disappear in inflation. Still, it compares well with about 8½ per cent this year, of which 3½ per cent was inflation.

The oracles this year have several uncertainties before them.

First, if they forecast a continuation of the boom they are forecasting a record upon a record. Already the boom is the largest ever in "peacetime."

A very prominent uncertainty is President Johnson. Some of them blame the President for wrecking their forecasts of a year ago. He should have raised taxes, they say. He didn't. And now they ask, Will he, and if so when, and by how much?

Uncertainties such as these cause some forecasters to speak vaguely. There is, of course, a reason for this. Most take a tip from the Delphic oracle, which in ancient Greece never had to recant because it spoke in riddles.

Those oracles who do speak clearly show their daring only over a short term. Their forecasts often are specific for the first six months of the year. They plead their crystal ball is cloudy beyond that. Therefore, they call for a "slight readjustment" in the second half of the year.

Nevertheless, these economic forecasts are not the amusements they once were. More and more the corporate and government economist is a key man. If he ever was the fellow with the silly charts he isn't now. He is consulted at the decision level.

E-K Names Eilers, Votes Big Dividend

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Louis K. Eilers, 59, who joined Eastman Kodak Co. in 1934, is the company's new president.

In addition to electing Eilers Thursday, the board of directors also voted a $69.3-million dividend for 63,000 employes in the United States.

The dividend will be paid March 17 at the rate of $35.90 for each $1,000 earned by an employe between Jan. 1, 1966 and Dec. 31, 1966. It represents the 55th dividend declared since the program began in 1912.

Eilers, who has been executive vice president for two years will succeed William S. Vaughn, who was elected board chairman and will continue as chief executive officer. He had been president since 1960.

Forests cover 1.7 million square miles, or 44 per cent, of Canada's area, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Crash Kills Driver

FRIENDSHIP, N.Y. (AP) — Wilson P. Miles, 19, of Friendship was killed early today when his automobile struck a utility pole and a guard rail at the intersection of Routes 408 and 275 near this community, northeast of Olean.

His home was on RD. 1.

Auto Firm Denies Legal Liability To Ralph Nader

NEW YORK (AP) — An attorney for General Motors says the corporation has no legal liability to Ralph Nader, the auto safety advocate who filed a $26-million invasion of privacy suit against the firm.

"In due course, the courts will vindicate our position," said the attorney, Simon H. Rifkind.

Termed Nonsense

Vincent Gillen, a licensed private investigator who also was named as a defendant in the suit, described the charges as "a lot of nonsense."

Nader, 32, an attorney who led a successful fight for a new federal auto safety law, filed the suit Wednesday in Manhattan Supreme Court.

The suit alleges that General Motors subjected Nader to "harassment and intimidation, (and) intruded into and invaded his seclusion, solitude and private affairs."

Nader charged in his suit that detectives hired by General Motors questioned his acquaintances and cast "aspersions upon plaintiff's political, social, economic, racial and religious views, tendencies and possible prejudices; his integrity, his sexual proclivities and inclinations; and his personal habits, such as use of intoxicants, narcotics and the like."

Used Entrapment

Nader also charged that the detectives used girls in efforts to entrap him and eavesdropped on him by wiretapping.

The suit named as other defendants Gillen's company, Victor Gillen Associates, Inc.; and Fidelifacts, Inc., a nationwide concern for whom Gillen holds a franchise for the greater New York area.

Nader told a congressional committee last March that prying, harassment and intimidation started before publication of his book, "Unsafe at Any Speed," which accused the auto industry of making unsafe cars.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I received an interesting letter from Attorney Henry DeWitt Green of Norfolk, Va. He is a former Kingstonian, and drops in here when he is in town. We correspond, and I am always glad to visit with him when he is in Kingston, and sorry I missed him. He wanted some information on the corner of John Street and Fair Street where the Stuyvesant Hotel is today, as he has a picture of it, before it was built. It was opened June 7th, 1910. I told him to see the DeWitt book and Decker and Fowler booklet, which he thinks he has in his collection.

Greene further writes: "I would like to obtain a copy of the picture which hangs at the entrance to the dining room of Gov. Clinton Hotel, showing the old 'Stone Yard' which was part of my early life in Kingston. I drove down there after leaving your place and got a picture of the old office of the Blue Stone Co. It is in bad condition, which seems a shame. It could be restored without much trouble and serve as a monument to the Blue Stone era." I think Greene refers to the Atlas of 1875, which contained copies of lithographs which today are framed individually, showing local scenes. I have a few of these, but do not think my collection contains the Fitch Bluestone dock but perhaps I'll run across a copy.

Greene also adds: "Yes, I regretted the depressing sight of the so called Urban Renewal. It happened here too (Virginia). The past, our past, should not be so ruthlessly destroyed. Urban Destruction would be a better name for it," the attorney writes.

From time to time I am asked about the Landing of Columbus by Vanderlyn, a Kingston artist. It appeared in the series of 1869, stamp March 1 to April 9, 1870. Picture is in Prussian blue and light brown ornamental work. This was a 15 cent stamp. The only one I have is of the Columbian Series, issue of 1893, the two cents, Landing of Columbus, which original is in the Rotunda of the Capitol at Washington. It is a purple maroon color. If a reader wants one of these used stamps, they can send me a nickel and a stamped addressed envelope. I have just a few.

Coming to the Christmas season, and I am asked about local history books available. The Hudson River Day Line by Kingstonian Donald C. Ringwald, published by Howell-North Books of Berkeley, Calif., is a large, beautifully illustrated book from original photographs, and if you want pictures of boats, like the Mary Powell, and her crew, James and John Bard paintings of the Swallow, Alida and Armenia. There is the four-boiler Francis Skiddy. The Daniel Drew, and so many others with no end of information. There are many interior shots of the later boats. This book with pages some 11 by 8 and a half inches is a must in everyone's library along the Hudson river. I removed the dust cover, because it is so beautiful and keep it separate. This book, Hudson River Dayline I am sure can be purchased at local book stores.

Mrs. Dorothy Hurlbut Sanderson dropped in the other day to talk about first day covers, of which she is a collector. She is the author of The Delaware and Hudson Canalway, Carrying Coals to Rondout. She covers the D&H Canal from original photographs and postal cards, with stories, folklore, events, names, a joy to read. It is reasonably priced and can be had at Kingston stores and Ulster Plaza Book Center, as other local authored books, I am sure.

Pose as Workers, Net $56,000 in Gems

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A gang of thieves stood in one of Melbourne's busiest streets Thursday night, hammered a five-inch hole in the concrete wall of an antique dealer's shop and escaped with jewels worth $56,000.

The men posed as construction workers on a new building going up beside the antique shop. They used a sledgehammer and crowbar to smash their way into the shop, then took oxyacetylene equipment in with them and cut open the office safe.

Testimony to Start In Brink's Job Trial

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Testimony will be heard for the first time today in the trial of Joel Singer of Montreal, who is charged with the theft of more than $400,000 from a Brink's Co. office here in 1965.

The selection of a jury of seven men and five women was completed Thursday in the Onondaga County Court, presided over by Judge Ormand Gale.

Singer, 23, is charged with first-degree grand larceny and third-degree burglary in the Oct. 23 burglary in which a 20mm anti-tank weapon was used to shatter a vault.

He was arrested in Montreal last December and extradited after several legal hearings.

Okay River Basin Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal water resources council has approved a regional river basin commission for the Great Lakes area to help plan for the maximum development of the region.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall also announced Thursday that a similar commission had been approved for the Pacific Northwest.

The first such commission approved under provisions of a 1965 law was one last August for New England.

"I hope all three will be created and in action by the first of the year," Udall said.

South would have been well-advised to let his partner play three no-trump. He had nine tricks in his own hand and could take a chance that the defense would not commence proceedings by running off diamond tricks. He would have been well-advised but the game was rubber bridge and he was looking at those 150 honors.

West cashed the ace and king of diamonds and shifted to the jack of spades.

South took East's queen with the ace and looked at those beautiful, useless clubs in dummy. There was no apparent way to get over to them.

South wasn't going to need them if spades broke but East's queen play had sort of marked West with long spades.

South thought awhile and recalled that East had played the jack of diamonds on the first diamond lead. Obviously, East had started with two diamonds only.

Then South looked at his deuce of trumps and saw a way to get to dummy's clubs. He played three high trumps. East did the best he could to stay low and dropped the nine, seven and six but the four was still higher than the deuce.

South cashed his ace of clubs and led the king of spades just in case East should hold a second spade. East discarded a club. There was no point in ruffing in. Then South led his deuce of trumps. East was in and had to lead to dummy's good clubs.

Goes on Relief With Millions Tied Up in Trust

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Otto Orkin, the pest-control millionaire with no spending money, won't have to go on relief after all.

The plight of the Latvian immigrant, 78, drew wide attention early this month when his wife applied for welfare funds and government surplus food because Orkin's fortune was tied up in a trust fund and the courts.

Since then, the Orkins say, they have received letters of encouragement, cash donations of $1 to $50 and an invitation to live with one newspaper reader.

And the couple's attorney says trustees of the Orkin estate have set up limited credit with grocery stores, druggists and laundries.

Starting in Allentown, Pa., with a homemade rat poison and a third grade education, Orkin developed a $65-million extermination business with 400 branches in 28 states.

After years of litigation in intrafamily financial squabbles and sanity hearings, Orkin was ruled mentally incompetent in 1964.

His third wife, with whom he lives in suburban Smyrna, is custodian of his person but not of his property.

Mrs. Orkin applied for aid from the Cobb County Welfare Department Oct. 31 and received a card entitling the couple to draw surplus beans, lard, meal, rice and peanut butter.

Mrs. Orkin was removed as guardian of Orkin's property in 1965 and a businessman was named in her place. This year the Orkins petitioned a county court to remove the businessman. The court said that according to provisions of the Orkin trust it had no jurisdiction over the property.

This made it impossible for the property guardian to receive any trust funds for the Orkins, and they were left without an income.

Now the Orkins have filed suit to remove the trustees of the estate or to obtain more of the trust's income. The suit is to be heard next week in Fulton County (Atlanta) Superior Court.

Score AFL-CIO Leadership for LBJ Viet Backing

NEW YORK (AP) — An organization representing 250 union leaders in New York and New Jersey criticized Thursday the national leadership of the AFL-CIO for supporting the Johnson administration's policy cies in Viet Nam.
The 100 present also adopted unanimously a resolution calling for an immediate de-escalation of the war.
The 250 leaders are officers or staff members of 31 unions.
The resolution was read by Joel R. Jacobson, president of the New Jersey State Industrial Union Council.
Among those who urged adoption was Edward Gray, assistant director of Region 9 of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers.
Gray and other speakers in the group expressed the views of a minority of the union movement.
The group was formed last spring as the Trade Union Division of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (Sane).

Asks Name Change

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Richard Nelson, father of two, has a new name today — Roberta Nelson.
Nelson wants to change his sex and petitioned Allegheny Pleas Court to change his name for social reasons.
The name change was approved Thursday. Nelson, 31, of suburban Brentwood, claimed in his petition that he was advised by doctors to undergo hormonal treatments and surgery for "sex reassignment."
Nelson was divorced in July. He did not appear in court and was represented by an attorney.

Neeley Signing Signals New Era In Pro Football

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Tackle Ralph Neely is officially a Dallas Cowboy today and officials of the American and National Football Leagues say the deal that brought it about signals a new era.

Neely, former University of Oklahoma star, had signed contracts with both the Cowboys of the NFL and the Houston Oilers of the AFL. However, he was adjudged Houston property by the courts.

At a meeting Thursday between K. S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the Oilers; Tex Schramm, president of the Cowboys; Don Klosterman, general manager of the Oilers, and Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner, it was agreed that Neely could remain with the Cowboys, where he has played since 1965.

However, for giving up Neely the Oilers will receive Dallas' first choice in the next player draft plus two other draft choices to be decided on at a latter date; the Cowboys will assume all legal fees and out-of-pocket expenses that have accrued in the drawn-out court case, and the Oilers and Cowboys will play three pre-season games, first of which will be in Houston next year.

"This is the new era between the two leagues we have been talking about," said Adams after the agreement was announced. "We have to work together and I think this proves that we can do it."

Speedway Winners

Scotti Lockrow, 6, of Rolling Meadows, came in first in the Thursday night races at the Kingston Speedway. Gary Reynolds of Port Ewen was second and Jeff Dunham, also of Port Ewen, was third.

Champions Place Eight Players; 6 for Liberty

Cappillino and Mar Only 2-Way Choices

By Charles J. Tiano
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Highland High's UCAL football champions dominate the 1966 All Star selections announced today by coaches of the Ulster County Athletic League, with three players on the All-Offense unit and five on the All-Defense team.

Third place Liberty High was runnerup with three offensive berths and four on defense. Runnerup Rondout Valley Central picked up four places. Onteora Central and Marlboro Central each placed two and New Paltz got the remaining position.

Greg Cappillino, Highland's brilliant quarterback, and Tom Mar, 6-5, 250-pound Liberty High sophomore tackle, are the only players picked on both offense and defense.

Capillino, the only repeater on the squad, was the nearest thing to a unanimous selection. Under UCAL rules, however, coaches may nominate players from their schools but cannot vote for them. He was nominated on every ballot.

In addition to Cappillino, Coach Len Atkins' Highlanders placed end Tom Canino and guard Angelo Godalto. Pete Glass, tackle, and halfback Pete Glass from Onteora High were picked on the offensive team, along with Richard Faulk, Marlboro's brilliant 4-letter star.

Ganders Place Three

Rondout Valley's surprising Ganders tied Highland with three offense team selections — crack halfback Chuck Elston, center Myron Baker and guard Craig Thomas.

Other first team offense designations went to halfback Alvin Lotz of Liberty and Vic Wazewski, New Paltz guard. The coaches were unable to break a tie vote and named three guards to the offensive unit.

Mar, the Liberty behemoth, anchors a defensive squad that averages 185 pounds. Three of his teammates — Mike Begley, 6-4, 185-pound junior end; linebacker Bruce Grimball and halfback Tom Rapenske—also were named.

Dominate Defense

Highland thoroughly dominated the All-Defense selections with five. In addition to Cappillino there were Ken Simone, end; Ben Bragg, tackle; Anthony Bordi, guard; and linebacker Mark Morano.

Fred Monroe, Marlboro's fleet halfback, and Al Miller, Rondout Valley guard, round out the 11- man defensive team.

Broken down by classes, the All Offense has 10 seniors, one junior and a sophomore. On the defensive side there are six seniors, three juniors and two sophs, the second being Al Miller, Rondout guard.

The UCAL coaches ballot only for all star team. The do not select Coach of the Year or Player of the year.

Arkansas Tackle Joins Death List Of Grid Players

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Claude Smithey, a 210-pound tackle, appeared in 10 plays in Arkansas' game with Texas A&GM Oct. 29. Last Tuesday he became the latest football player to die this season. The unofficial toll for 1966 to date is nine.

Smithey, married and the father of a baby girl, collapsed after the game and was hospitalized for brain surgery. He never emerged from a coma.

Last spring, the 23-year-old player from Searcy, Ark., underwent brain surgery for the removal of a blood clot, but physicians cleared him to play again.

Arkansas coaches reported game film showed Smithey was not hit on the head during the 10 plays he played.

Once again high school football was hardest hit by fatal injuries. Last Season at least 22 high school players died.

Statistics also showed that from 1931 through 1964 a total of 328 school players died as a direct result of football injuries compared to 253 on the sandlot, professional, semipro and college levels. There were 146 high school deaths as an indirect result of football injuries compared to 131 for the others.

The death of one high school player this year was indirectly caused by a football injury. A high school junior varsity player in Western Pennsylvania died last Tuesday after going into shock during minor surgery for torn knee ligaments.

Other Deaths

Other deaths this season included:

John Perrault, 18, of Shawano, Wis., High School, died Oct. 15 of injuries suffered when tackled in a game Oct. 7.

Thomas White, 19, of Southern Methodist University, collapsed on the practice field March 3 and died eight hours later of a heart stoppage.

Jeffrey Litherland, 17, of Pennsville, N.J., High School died Sept. 25 of head injuries suffered in a preseason scrimmage.

William Fait, 14, of Burlington High School, collapsed during punting practice Sept. 26 and died later during surgery.

Clifton Baker Jr., 15, of Banks High School, Birmingham, Ala., died of an apparent broken neck in a scrimmage Feb. 25.

Benjamin Stur Jr., of Bishop Noll High School, Hammond, Ind., injured in practice and died Aug. 16.

Notre Dame 4½ Point Pick Over MSU Powerhouse

By WILL GRIMSLEY

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Notre Dame rules an uneasy 4½-point favorite over Michigan State here Saturday in the battle of top-ranking, unbeaten football goliaths that both concede may be decided by a quick early break.

The prize is No. 1 ranking and the probable national college championship.

"These teams are so much alike — both big, well-balanced with good passing and running plus strong defenses — that the outcome may hinge on who makes the fewest mistakes," says Ara Parseghian, coach of the top-placed Fighting Irish.

"Although both are high-scoring teams, I think this might well develop into a defensive game. Then it's a question of which gets the big break."

Duffy Daugherty, loose and joke-cracking coach of the No. 2 Michigan State Spartans, agrees that a tight, hard-hitting contest is in prospect, but he warns:

"In an emotionally packed game like this, you can't tell. One team may get a quick break — an intercepted pass or a long kick return — and bust the thing wide open. Then both, or one or the other, might rack up a big score."

The blue ribbon battle, creating more national interest than any college encounter in a couple of decades, kicks off at 1:30 p.m. at Spartan Stadium before an expected sellout crowd of nearly 79,000 and a broad television audience.

It is being beamed live to a large part of the nation — although not all — by ABC-TV. Other areas will get it by delayed video tape.

Pro scouts will be out in clusters. No teams in the country have more prospective No. 1 draft choices.

The weather forecast is for cloudy skies and temperature around 40 degrees. The field is covered as protection against predicted light rain or snow Friday.

Thus, a fast-footing and a dry football may be expected.

Edwards' Excel In Bridge Play

Mr. and Mrs. C. Russell Edwards of Kingston posted an excellent 67½ per cent game to lead the North-South side of the Glenerie Bridge Club's fractional point game.

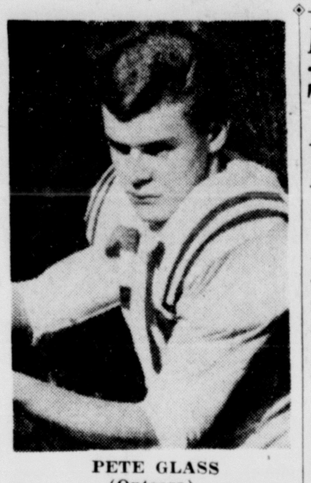

Dr. Harry McNamara and Milton Tompkins of Hurley led the East-West with 60½ per cent.

North-South: Herbert Gertner-Dr. Victor Randel, Kingston, 54 per cent; Milton Dubin-Walter Daumann, Pine Hill.

East-West: Mrs. John Olivet-Mrs. Andrew Dykes, Kingston, 55 per cent; D. Thompson-Dr. John Comstock, Kingston, 52½ per cent.

No game is scheduled tonight because of the National Charity Game at Holiday Inn at Newburgh.

If Form Holds Up

Ties in Two Divisions Is Probability in NFL

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — If favored Dallas can hold off the wild men from Pittsburgh and form holds up for Green Bay and Baltimore, we can have ties in both divisions of the National Football League Sunday night.

After a second straight weekend of upsets in which the Steelers and Oakland Raiders won as underdogs and the San Francisco 49ers got away with a tie, the pro pickers expect most of the favorites to stand up this week.

An 8-2-1 week, despite the Giants' disaster in Los Angeles, left the season's record at 75-31-7 with five weeks to go.

Let's try again with all games to be played Sunday.

Green Bay 24, Chicago 13 — Packers in savage mood after loss to Vikings and one week bye. Paul Hornung doubtful. Bears' air game showed signs of life in 30-30 tie with 49ers but Green Bay has best pass defense. Packers won first game 17-0, a Willie Davis field day.

Baltimore 26, Detroit 16 — Colts bombed Lions 45-14 in first meeting. John Unitas' sore shoulder gives Detroit a chance if Karl Sweetan's ribs are not too sore. Baltimore must improve on last week's effort against Atlanta. Garo Yepremian dangerous inside the 30.

Dallas 36, Pittsburgh 20 — Steelers did a job on Browns and Cards but do not have offense to match Cowboys. Don Meredith threw four touchdown passes in 52-21 Dallas romp Oct. 30. Settlement of Ralph Neely problem should boost Cowboys.

San Francisco 24, Philadelphia 21 — Eagles haven't beaten 49ers since 1959. Joe Kuharich having quarterback trouble. John Brodie hit 28 of 54 in 30-30 tie with Bears.

Minnesota 24, Los Angeles 21 — Norm van Brocklin talking about playing for future but can't take chances with Rams whose offense caught fire against inept Giants. Vikings won easily 35-7 in mid-October with Fran Tarkenton accounting for four touchdowns. Vikes also won exhibition game in August, 24-10.

Cleveland 28, Washington 20 — Could be trouble for Browns. Redskins don't quit for anybody, and won first meeting 38-14 but trailed at half. Loss of Milt Morin handicap to Browns. Should be an air battle all the way and Skins can apply pressure to Frank Ryan.

Atanta 14, New York 10 — How can you figure the Giants? Allie Sherman has shaken up Giants but problems still linger. Could be win No. 1 for Falcons who are underdogs.

St. Louis has the bye and about time.

Buffalo 24, Houston 21 — Bills can't afford to stumble after two straight over Jets. Oilers showed signs of life in Boston with Don Trull at Controls. Bills won earlier 27-20.

New York 35, Miami 14 — Weeb Ewbank glad to see Dolphins after his string of troubles. Joe Namath should pull Jets out of four-game losing streak. Jets won first game 19-14.

Kansas City 28, Boston 20 — Chiefs rolling toward Western title with 8-2 record but they have past history of unexpected swoons. Kansas City took first meeting 43-24.

Oakland 28, Denver 14 — Raiders have won five of last six including 41-19 stunner over San Diego. This first of two games with Broncos in four weeks. Bronc coming off bye.

Shined Shoes For Umpires

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The National Baseball Congress is putting some polish into its franchised sand-lot leagues.

Congress President Ray Dumont said today the 1967 rules will require umpires to shine their shoes before every sanctioned game.

The rule will apply to an estimated 7,000 members of the National Association of Umpires and a violation can bring a 30-day suspension for the umps.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Officials of the Western and American hockey leagues will meet in New York City Nov. 28 to discuss merger.

Sophs Turned Tide In Blazing Finish

The Ulster County Athletic League doesn't name a "Coach of the Year" but if it did, Coach John (Chick) Meehan of Rondout Valley Central would come pretty close to being a unanimous choice.

Meehan led his undermanned Ganders to a 5-3 season overall and 5-2 in the 1966 UCAL competition, good enough to beat out a powerful Liberty High squad for second place.

The Ganders' outstanding accomplishment of 1966, of course, has to be the 26-0 shellacking they gave league champion Highland. The Highlanders were considered one of the most powerful teams in the history of the loop and had rolled over 17 straight opponents.

But there's more to the Rondout Valley football story of 1966. There's an old cliche that says a coach is only as good as his players. At the beginning of the season it occurred to Chick Meehan that he might not even get a chance to prove that axiom. Only 21 boys reported for the varsity and 15 for the JVs.

Drop Football

Rumors swept UCAL circles that football was finished at Rondout Valley. Looking back, one wonders if the Gander coach ever entertained thoughts of dropping the sport.

"Not at all," he said today, "although we were discouraged at first. Soon word got around the school that we were desperately in need of football players. Several seniors came out who had never played football in high school before."

Meehan marshalled his Terrific Twenty for the opener against Warwick and promptly suffered a double loss—the game and first string halfback Gordy Taylor on an injury.

Injuries are tough to take on any team but when you've got less than 25 players on the whole squad, they can be disastrous. Two games later, Tommy Rowe, another starting halfback, was out.

"Well, we'd already lost three games," Meehan recalls, "I figured I'd go with the sophomores."

He did and the young Ganders promptly reeled off four straight victories including the schocker over Highland. This was the football story of the year and it had all the ingredients — a determined coach, school spirit and capable young men who beat heavy odds to project the Ganders into the thick of the UCAL pennant race. A month earlier it would have been passed off as a wild dream.

And how does it look for next year? "With 15 lettermen returning . . . pretty rosy," says Meehan.

With Chick Meehan at the helm it looks even better . . . terrific, as a matter of fact.

Greatest Crawford Brooklyn Fighter Dies After KO

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Light heavyweight boxer Greatest Crawford, who lapsed into a coma after being knocked out Wednesday night, died early today in Timken-Mercy Hospital here.

The Brooklyn, N.Y., fighter was knocked out in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder with Marion Conner, a 26-year-old, 179-pounder from Canton.

Crawford was 26 and weighed in for the fight at 170 pounds.

He was rushed to the hospital after efforts to revive him proved futile. He underwent surgery to remove a blood clot in his brain.

Crawford's death was believed to be the first ring fatality in an American professional bout this year.

In 1965 two U.S. professional boxers died as a result of injuries suffered in fights.

On May 13 in Philadelphia, heavyweight Sonny Banks of Detroit died from a brain injury following his knockout of Leotis Martin. Death was attributed to a brain hemorrhage and a concussion.

On Sept. 18 in Boston, Willie (Pineapple) Stevenson, a Boston welterweight, died after suffering a brain injury in a bout with Roscoe Gregory Sept. 11.

Wary Syracuse Eleven Faces Always Rugged West Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cow jumped over the moon, but can the Orange jump over the Mountaineers?

Syracuse football coach Ben Schwartzwalder probably wishes Saturday's game against the West Virginia University Mountaineers would be as easy as reading children's rhymes. It won't be, and he knows it.

In fact, with an invitation to a post-season bowl hanging before him and his players, Schwartzwalder has fretted all week about meeting his alma mater's team on its home ground.

"West Virginia will take advantage of anything written about a bowl game to get sky high for us," the veteran coach said Wednesday.

Elsewhere Saturday, Colgate travels to New Brunswick, N.J., to face Rutgers, Cornell meets Princeton in New Jersey, and Buffalo is at home against Youngstown University.

After the cow jumped over the moon, the "little dog laughed to see such sport." And that's just what worries Schwartzwalder.

Upset in 1964

Two years ago, when Syracuse already was tapped to play in the Sugar Bowl, underdog West Virginia defeated the Orange in a not-so-funny manner, 28-27.

This year, the Mountaineers possess an unimpressive 3-4-2 record. Syracuse, in addition to its bowl chances, has won seven and lost only two.

As usual, Syracuse will call on the services of powerful Larry Csonka, the bull-like fullback, and Floyd Little, the fast and slippery two-time All America halfback, for its offensive drive.

The Mountaineers' victories were earned in the last three weekends, largly on the running of Garrtt Ford, a tailback who has set one season and career rushing records on the Morgantown campus.

Cornell is out of the running for the Ivy League title but well on its way to a successful season. In addition, the Big Red can play spoiler this week by defeating Princeton, which is tied with Dartmouth and Harvard for the Ivy lead.

The game shapes up to be the classic grind-'-em-out on the ground display, with Peter Larson lugging the ball for Cornell and Princeton's single - wing backfield sharing the Tigers' ball-carrying duties.

Record in Sight

Larson, who has averaged 108.4 yards a game, can break a record set at Cornell by Gary Wood by gaining only 23 yards. Wood now plays quarterback for the New York Giants of the National Football League.

Colgate hopes to defeat Rutgers because then it will own the best football record at the school since 1934. Thus far, the Red Raiders have won seven, lost one and tied one.

Rutgers, meanwhile, has won five of eight games this season.

Colgate possesses one of the nation's strongest defensive units but its secondary has been overwhelmed, which could spell trouble because Rutgers has two fine passers in Fred Eckert and Pete Savino.

Last Saturday, when Buffalo was defeated by Tampa, several players contracted food poisoning and they came home with a 4-5 record. This Saturday, Buffalo plays its last game, the players are recovered and the team is looking for a break-even season.

The Youngstown University Penguins hope to prevent them from doing so.

The Penguins have a 5-2-1 season record and could spoil the Bulls' dreams.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Art Arfons miraculously escaped with only minor injuries when his jet car, the Green Monster, crashed going 580 miles-per-hour. Arfons was trying to break Craig Breedlove's world land speed record of 600.601 m.p.h.

ATLANTA (AP) — Luman Harris, former manager of the Houston Astros, has been hired by the Atlanta Braves to manage Richmond in the Class AA International League next summer.

Harris, who also managed the Baltimore Orioles for part of 1961, was fired at Houston following the 1965 season.

The former big league pitcher is a native of Birmingham, Ala., and now lives at Sugarland, Tex.

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Kilgore Junior College of Texas has been named as one of the Shrine Bowl teams which will battle for the national junior college championship here Nov. 25.

The other team has not been named.

ATLANTA (AP) — Coach Norb Hecker of the Atlanta Falcons says tackle Guy Reese may be back for one or two games this year but rookie fullback Bill Wolski is lost for the season.

Wolski, No. 5 draft choice from Notre Dame, was declared out Thursday after a knee operation. The Falcons said he would require a long period of recuperation.

Reese suffered similar knee trouble earlier in the season.

Fantastic Odds Quoted on Game For College Title

By RON RAPOPORT

"The hay is in the barn," said Ara Parseghian.

About all that was left for Notre Dame and Michigan State were the finishing touches as the two top-rated college football teams awaited their momentous clash Saturday in East Lansing, Mich.

Irish Coach Parseghian, as his team got set for the trip today, said, "This game is fantastic when you consider the odds are staggering against two teams meeting for the national title this late in the regular season among more than 100 major colleges whose schedules are made seven or eight years in advance.

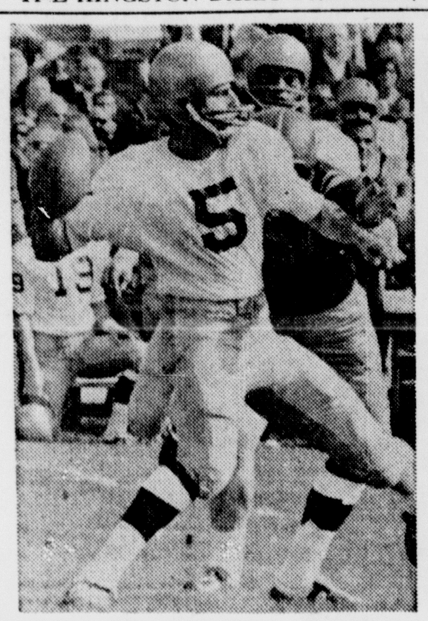

In another top game, Southern California, No. 7, and UCLA, No. 8, will square off in Los Angeles to decide the Pacific Eight's Rose Bowl representative. The Trojans have already won the conference championship, but a Bruin victory could influence the selectors of the Bowl team.

Third-rated Alabama, fifth-ranked Georgia Tech and ninth-rated Georgia are idle Saturday. Tennessee and Mississippi will fight for bowl bids, though, when they meet Kentucky and Vanderbilt respectively.

Arkansas, No. 6, plays Southwest Conference foe Texas Tech with a Cotton Bowl bid at stake for the Razorbacks. Purdue, No. 10, which will be the Big 10 representative in the Rose Bowl, plays Indiana.

Other top games are Michigan-Ohio State, Northwestern-Illinois, Minnesota - Wisconsin, Missouri-Kansas, Kansas State-Oklahoma State, California-ton State, Oregon-Oregon State, Colorado-Air Force, Iowa State-Arizona Utah-Utah State and Baylor-Southern Methodist.

Also, Rice - Texas Christian, State-Wake Forest, Louisiana Duke-North Carolina, Florida State-Tulane, Maryland - Virginia, Clemson - North Carolina State, Harvard - Yale, Brown Columbia, Rutgers - Colgate, Cornell - Princeton, Dartmouth-Penn, Penn State, Pitt and Syracuse-West Virginia.

CALLING THE SIGNALS in the college football game of the year Nov. 19 will be Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty, left, and Michigan State's Jimmy Raye, shown talking things over with coach Duffy Daugherty. The big battle will take place in East Lansing, Mich. ((NEA Telephoto)

Steelers Pointing for Slam

Seeking Third Straight Win Over Leaders

By HAL BOCK

The Pittsburgh Steelers with two impressive scalps already dangling from the belts go for the Eastern Conference grand slam when they face the Dallas Cowboys in a National Football League game Sunday.

The Steelers had lost five straight when they suddenly turned on Cleveland and defeated the Browns 16-6 two weeks ago. Last week it was first place St. Louis' turn and the Cardinals took a 30-9 rapping. Now Dallas with a chance to move into a first-place tie with idle St. Louis runs into the red-hot Steelers.

The Cowboys one-half game behind the Cardinals got a psychological lift for their game Thursday when they learned that tackle Ralph Neely now belongs to them with no strings attached.

Neely had been the subject of a long and bitter battle in the courts between Dallas and Houston of the American Football League.

Cleveland trying to stay alive in the East entertains Washington — the first of two games in five days for the Browns. They'll meet Dallas in the Cotton Bowl on Thanksgiving Day.

In other games Chicago visits Green Bay. Baltimore is at Detroit, Atlanta starts a three-game road trip in New York, Minnesota plays at Los Angeles and San Francisco entertains Philadelphia.

In the American League Oakland plays at Denver, Boston visits Kansas City, New York hosts Miami and Buffalo is at Houston.

Cleveland boasts a potent offense with running backs Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green supplementing the passing of Frank Ryan. Kelly has gained 730 yards running and Green 590 for second and fourth place among NFL rushers and Ryan has thrown 19 touchdown passes.

Green Bay tied for the Western Conference Lead with Baltimore had a week off to contemplate its 20-17 loss to Minnesota. Bart Starr is leading the NFL in passing but the Packers may have to go without Paul Hornung who is nursing a neck injury.

Detroit got a record-smashing six field goals from Garo Yepremian their left-footed soccer-type kicker from Cyprus last week. But the Colts' Lou Michaels a conventional straight-away booter leads the NFL in scoring with 82 points.

Winless Atlanta which has dropped nine straight could have a chance against the injury-ridden Giants.

Los Angeles has the NFL's leading rushing in Dick Bass who has gained 744 yards. Fran Tarkenton Minnesota's scrambling quarterback was intercepted five times and gained only 83 yards passing in the Vikings' 32-31 loss to Detroit last week.

Norm Snead and King Hill have been splitting Philadelphia's quarterbacking chores and it will continue that way for the Eagles' first visit to San Francisco in seven years. John Brodie set a 49er club record when he threw 54 passes in a 30-30 tie with Chicago last Sunday.

Koufax To Quit?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers reportedly will call a news conference today and announce the retirement of pitching star Sandy Koufax.

Baseball writer Phil Collier of the San Diego Union writing under a Los Angeles dateline, said that while the club has not publicly announced the news conference, the newspaper had learned exclusively that it will be called and the 30-year-old southpaw pitcher will call it quits.

E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodgers vice president and general manager, aroused from sleep, denied that the club is calling a news conference but added: "You might check with the other party. What Koufax might be doing is his own business."

Efforts to reach Koufax were unsuccessful.

The reason will be because of Sandy's chronic and painful arthritic condition of his pitching elbow, the story said.

The elbow has troubled him for three seasons and Koufax, whose $125,000 salary last season was the highest for a pitcher in baseball history, has hinted that he might retire.

Koufax was named last month as the Cy Young Award winner for the third time, an honor unprecedented, and earlier this week was barely edged out by Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates for the Most Valuable Player award in the National League.

Koufax won 27 games and lost 9 in 1966. The final victory clinched the pennant for the Dodgers on the last day of the season.

Koufax, however, was a loser in his one game against the Baltimore Orioles who swept the World Series in four straight games. Errors by his teammates, including three by outfielder Willie Davis in one inning, contributed to Koufax' World Series downfall.

Bills, Chiefs Can Move Closer

By TED MEIER

The Buffalo Bills and the Kansas City Chiefs can go a long way Sunday toward wrapping up the divisional titles in the American Football League.

The Bills travel to Houston to battle the Oilers. Another triumph over the Texans would give the Eastern Division leading Bills a 7-3-1 record with three games left.

The Chiefs, leading the Western Division with an 8-2-0 mark, play at home against the surprising Boston Patriots, the Eastern Division runner-up at 5-3-1.

In the other AFL games Sunday, the New York Jets entertain the Miami Dolphins in an effort to end a four-game losing streak while at Denver the Broncos take on the invading Oakland Raiders.

Buffalo is favored to repeat its earlier 27-20 victory against Houston. The Bills, beaten by San Diego and Kansas City in their first two games, have been a powerful crew of late.

The passing of Jackie Kemp and the running of Bobby Burnett and Wray Carlton have sparked the Bills. They are expected to dull the passing of Don Trull and George Blanda of the Oilers with a concentrated rush.

Both Need Win

The game at Kansas City is a big one for both the Chiefs and the Patriots. The Chiefs have the best record in the league with Len Dawson throwing 22 touchdown passes backed by the running of Bert Coan and Mike Garrett.

They beat Boston earlier in the season 43-24 and are once again expected to overcome the threat of Babe Parilli's passing and the powerful running of fullback Jim Nance.

Joe Namath's passing is expected to be too much for Miami as the Jets are favored to end their losing streak. The Jets beat the Dolphins 19-14 in Miami beach in September.

Paced by the passing of Tom Flores, Oakland is expected to win its sixth game in its last seven by whipping Denver. A victory would keep alive Oakland's faint hopes of beating out Kansas City in the Western Division. The Raiders are 6-4, two games back of the Chiefs.

Only 4075 Watch But Baltimore Sees Some Hope

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National Basketball Association doubleheader wasn't an artistic or financial success, but for Baltimore fans and owners it was a night to remember.

A crowd of only 4,075 turned out for the twin bill in the Civic Center Thursday night, and the ragged play was not exactly ball aficionadoes.

But the owners could afford to overlook the small gate and the spectators could forget the errors after the Baltimore Bullets whipped the Chicago Bulls 120-102 in the second game.

It was Baltimore's third victory in 16 starts this season, ending a three-game losing streak and making Interim Coach Buddy Jeannette the winningest skipper in Baltimore this season. The Bullets have won two games in seven tries under Jeannette since Mike Farmer was fired.

Substitute Johnny Green, a tireless performer, again came off the bench at full speed to spark the Bullets. He scored 17 points and led Baltimore with 13 rebounds while playing 23 minutes.

Midway through the third period, with Baltimore leading 64-62, Green ignited a 16-2 splurge which put the Bullets in front 80-64. Jumpin' Johnny scored five points during this span and assisted on two other baskets.

Pistons Blow Lead

In the opener, the Detroit Pistons blew a 13-point advantage in the second half, but rallied behind Coach Dave DeBusschere in the final period to down the New York Knickerbockers 123-108.

DeBusschere scored 17 of his 31 points in the last quarter and Eddie Miles added 12 more as the Pistons fell behind early in the period and then won going away. After New York pulled to within 110-108 with 2:26 remaining, Detroit scored the final 13 points.

Rookie Dave Bing also scored 20 points after sinking his first seven shots, for Detroit, while Willis Reed topped New York with 32 and grabbed 17 rebounds.

In the nightcap, Guy Rodgers scored 24 points for the Bulls and assisted on 11 baskets, and his backcourt sidekick, Jerry Sloan, added 22 points.

But the Bullets, although running helter skelter, were finding the open men with passes as Jeannette has insisted, and nine players were credited with assists.

Jeannette used every player except Mel Counts, with only Gus Johnson playing more than 30 minutes. Johnson led the way with 20 points, and LeRoy Ellis and Johnny Egan contributed 15 apiece.

Boros Five Under In Houston Golf

HOUSTON (AP) — Old rocking chair hasn't got Julius Boros yet.

The 46-year-old former two-time U.S. Open champion returned to the golf circuit this week after a couple of months "of fishing and taking care of my seven kids. Baby-sitting was enough to keep me busy."

It must have done the husky 6-foot veteran a lot of good for he unreeled a late afternoon five-under-par 34-32—66 for the first-round lead in the $110,000 Houston Champions International Tournament Thursday.

Boros a non-winner on the circuit for 2½ years but collector of $38,085 in official money winnings so far this year was not claiming any victory yet.

"This was a nice relaxed round" he said. "Let's see what happens next. Maybe it can keep up who knows."

Pros Rate McVea As Top Back; Has a Year Left

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of Houston leads the nation's colleges in total offense — 434.1 yards per game — and has averaged 36 points in scoring while compiling a record (7-1) bowl teams would like to have.

There'll be no bowl games for the Cougars because they are on NCAA probation, but the records are considered a personal triumph for Warren McVea.

McVea started his college football career as a huge flop. Remember that miserable debut against Tulsa on television in the Astrodome in 1965? The star-makers dropped him like a hot rock.

But they're dusting off their superlatives these days as McVea leads the Cougars on a wild surge down the November gridiron trail.

Highly Touted Texan

McVea was the most highly publicized Texas schoolboy football player of his day when he came out of San Antonio, with the tag of Wondrous Warren, and headed for Houston.

But he not only couldn't do anything for the Houston offense in that first varsity football game he played in the Astrodome, his fumbling lost the contest. He had to be benched.

It was mid-season before he could regain his equilibrium. He finished up well but was scarcely noticed.

This season is another matter. McVer, who can run 100 yards in 9.5, has been having such a great year that the pro scouts rank him among the top 10 college prospects — he's only a junior.

McVea made his comeback as a flanker but now has shifted to running back and is averaging 9.4 yards per carry — the all-time NCAA record is 11.5.

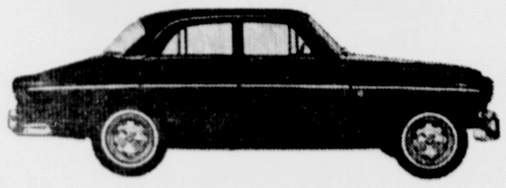

He has gotten in only 55 minutes in three games but has carried the ball 46 times for 422 yards and four touchdowns. His longest run was 63 yards — against Kentucky.

In the first five games, he was the flanker and caught 13 passes for 384 yards and three touchdowns. His longest dash was 99 yards against Washington State. The record average for pass-receiving is 30.9 and McVea's average is 29.5.

He has taken five kickoffs back 129 yards.

Gallagher Outlines Planned AP Changes

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, outlined today a number of technical and editorial changes planned by the news service.

Gallagher told the annual convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors that the AP is now doing investigative reporting, which he said would have been "sacrilegious a few years ago."

"We adopt no point of view but simply report the facts and let the readers draw their own Recent investigative stories covered waste in foreign aid and bribery and graft in Viet Nam.

Another innovation is the lengthy, magazine-style feature such as "The Middle-Aged Lions" just issued. This was a 15,000-word story covering the experiences of four men during World War II and the subsequent years.

Gallagher also announced that The Associated Press will change its "A" wire from all-capitals to caps and lower case next spring.

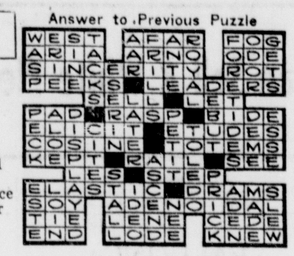

He said the speed of the wire will be increased to 66 words per minute at the time of the change-over. It is now 60 words per minute.

Will Treat Child For Muscle Disease

SHERIDAN, Ill. (AP) — A former Chicago surgeon has volunteered to undertake treatment and research study of an infant believed fatally ill of a little-understood muscle disease.

Dr. Joseph R. Guttman of Sheridan made the offer Thursday in response to a plea by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kaczmarek of Carpentersville, Ill., who have lost two infant children to the condition known as amytonia congenita.

old son, Joseph Donald, has shown symptoms of the disease, a deterioration of muscle tone. Three older children of the Kaczmareks appear to have escaped the condition and are normal.

Dr. Guttman said that he believes "the chances are absolutely against the child" now afflicted. "But I will do what I can for the baby. I have treated two cases of amytonia congenita, but no one knows much about the disease."

Hit By Truck, Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Leona Eckert, 63, a school teacher, was killed Thursday night when hit by a pickup truck near her home in suburban Lakeview.

The accident occurred on Lakeview Road.

Mrs. Eckert taught at Pine Hurst Elementary School.

Must Reapportion

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Rejection of a reapportionment plan for Erie County at the polls last week has led now to a request that the State Supreme Court devise and implement a plan.

The request came Thursday in the form of a motion that the court consider a new plan calling for 54 districts of equal population. The 54 members on the present board of supervisors each represents areas of unequal population.

The motion was filed by the same two taxpayers who instituted a reapportionment suit earlier in the year. As a result of their suit, Justice Harold P. Kelly ordered the county on June 29 to devise a reapportionment plan in keeping with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decree.

Kelly had ruled that a plan, adopted by the board, was legal and should be placed before the voters. The plan, calling for 40 board members from 20 districts, was rejected last week by voters.

President Can't Say Enough for Tapioca Pudding

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may turn out to be the best friend a tapioca pudding ever had.

He can't say enough for the stuff.

Take Thursday night. He looked at the big fancy cake turned out by the White House chef for the 32nd anniversary of Johnson's marriage to Lady Bird.

"It is pretty," he said, "but I think I will have to have tapioca."

It was that way all day at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

In his hospital suite, the convalescent President told reporters he couldn't remember his menu — but "I know I had tapioca."

And off he went. "Tapioca has less calories than any other dessert that you can get and it has great advantages when it is made with skim milk and Sucaryl."

He said it is easy to make, filling, satisfying and low on calories.

By Johnson's account, a heaping cup of tapioca has 109 calories; a serving of ice cream has 200 to 250.

At his anniversary party, Johnson sent for a dish of leftover tapioca and fed spoonfuls to reporters, pointing out the calorie count.

He said Zephyr Wright, the family cook, makes tapioca for him in big batches, and puts it up in containers.

Johnson said he takes them along when he goes to the LBJ Ranch in Texas — or goes to the hospital.

He said no one can match her tapioca.

SCENE FROM ANGEL—Pearl Blackman and Don Eperson have a heart-to-heart talk in this scene from The White Angel, satirical play by Woodstocker Holly Beye, bowing here this weekend. The play deals with many facets of modern life, was originally written for television and eventually produced on the west coast, and is heralded as a comedy shocker. With a cast culled from the ranks of Performing Arts of Woodstock, it opens tonight at The Little Theatre-Off-the-Green, next to the Guild of Craftsmen, Tinker Street, Woodstock. Angel may also be seen Saturday night on the same stage. (Photo by Brian Brooks)

Possible Wrangle in Offing On More Space for Firemen

Complaints by members of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 1 that the firehouse on Tinker Street is no longer large enough to house its fire fighting equipment are growing louder with each passing day.

It has been two months since the Building Committee of the village fire company presented plans and drawings of a proposed addition to the present firehouse—two months in which no positive moves in any direction have been made by the Woodstock Town Board on the matter. Volunteers of Company No. 1 are becoming a trifle edgy about the subject and, to some extent, they seem to have the support of other companies in the township with regard to their request for more space.

Village firemen went on record several years ago as favoring the purchase of the former Hansen building next door to the firehouse when plans were first announced by the Woodstock Town Board that it was considering the purchase of that building. Obviously, such a move stemmed from the fact that volunteers visualized the building ultimately falling to their use. When members realized that the Town Board had no plans for the building for several years in advance—if then—firemen asked instead for a suitable addition to the firehouse.

As proposed by the Building Committee of Company No. 1, the hoped for addition would be 18 feet in length, would be attached to the side of the present firehouse and would run up to the wall of the Hansen building, although that building would not be included in the plans.

Three Bays Needed

Firemen say that three bays are actually needed in any addition. One could house a 1937 truck owned by the company, one could furnish garage space for an emergency truck wanted to replace the one sold recently, and another could be used for badly needed space in which to work on equipment in need of repairs, etc.

Actually, the 18-foot addition now in the works would provide garaging for only two trucks. The proposal differs only slightly and only by location from a plan submitted by the company only short years ago. During the administration of Abram F. Molyneaux, who preceded present Supervisor William R. West Jr. in office, vols asked that a two-bay garage be built directly behind the Town Hall Annex. This garage never became a reality since it never received the sanction of the Town Board and the company is forced to house its tank truck currently in a private garage and will have no home for the emergency truck it hopes to purchase.

Woodstock Fire Company No. 1, unlike other companies in the township, does not own its building. Originally, this was the case but, in later years, the company gave the building to the town. It now leases the quarters from the town.

Would Others Object

This leasing arrangement as opposed to the fact that other local companies own their buildings has become the crux of the argument in approval or disapproval of any plans to build an addition. The Town Board, it has been reported, maintains that other companies in the township might object to adding to the Company No. 1 building since they would not receive similar treatment and benefits.

If this is the only reason being given, it holds little water. A spot check by this column has ascertained that other Woodstock companies couldn't care less; say the entire matter is not their concern.

With matters at a standstill for the past two months fire company expansion may shortly become a major issue in local government circles. From all indications, a wrangle is definitely brewing on the horizon.

Tuesday Club Trip

The Tuesday Club of Woodstock will sponsor a bus trip to New York City Wednesday, Dec. 7. The round trip fare will be offered at bargain rates and the time of the trip will make Christmas shopping possible. Plans call for the bus to leave the Woodstock Village Green at 8 a. m. and the Port Authority Bus Terminal in Manhattan at 8 p. m. Those interested may contact Mrs. Elsie Ertz, of Bearsville, for reservations.

Named to New Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The superindent of schools at Mount Vernon, N.Y., has been appointed a special assistant to the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity to help plan policy and programs in education.

Dr. John Henry Martin was named to the post Thursday by Sargent Shriver, director of the federal agency.

Before coming to Mount Vernon, the 51-year-old Martin was principal and curriculum director at schools in Oyster Bay, Kingston and Manhattan, N.Y.

The U.S. dollar bill bears a copy of the portrait of Washington by Gilbert Stuart.

Students Ask Voice In Michigan U Policy

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan student government council Thursday night broke off relations with the school, with the main issue over student demands to participate in decisions by the university's administration.

Harlan Gatcher, university president, said it was "a most ill-advised and mistaken action and quite a serious matter."

The student council voted Tuesday to break off relations with the university unless a ban on sit-in demonstrations was lifted Thursday.

Richard L. Cutler, university vice president for student affairs, last Sunday ordered the ban on campus sit-in demonstrations if they interfered with the orderly process of the university.

The 16-member council voted 11-5 to separate itself from the Office of Student Affairs, chief mediator between the university administration and the school's 33,000 students.

Rules Legislature Out in Ga. Race

ATLANTA, Ga (AP)—A three-judge federal court ruled formally Thurs. that the Georgia Legislature cannot elect a governor in the deadlocked race between Republican Howard Bo Callaway and Democrat Lester Maddox.

The decision struck down the Georgia Constitution's provision for legislative decision in no-majority elections. An immediate appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court was planned by the state.

In the decision formalizing its tentative ruling of last Friday, the federal panel merely invalidated the Georgia constitutional provision. But a 10-day suspension of the order was granted to give State Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton time to seek an additional stay from the Supreme Court.

A man slipped on the escalator and began silding to the bottom. Halfway down, he collided with a woman, knocking her over. Together the two continued to the bottom.

Why We Say--

"UP THE SPOUT"

NOT REDEEMED: This old phrase for something that is gone and cannot be brought back, started before the Civil War. Pawn shops had long chutes or spouts where they stored articles until redeemed. If the customer did not come back, the articles were lost to him or remained "up the spout."

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Some residents of Lawton want to reimburse a Nebraska soldier who was mistakenly jailed 25 days in connection with a burglary.

Mayor Wayne Gilley has started a fund-raising campaign for Pfc. Cecil Boelts, 22, of Aurora, Neb., who is stationed at the nearby Ft. Sill.

Boelts was jailed Oct. 17 on a charge of robbing two grocery stores. Authorities said the csarge was dismissed when witnesses withdrew their identification of the soldier as the robber.

Boelts' parents borrowed $2,000 for lawyer fees and had to raise more money to travel here from their farm home to be with their son and his wife, Donna, who is expecting a baby.

"It will be a long time before this young couple can repay their parents the money they had to borrow," the mayor said Thursday.

Mention Ike For Good-Will Tour of World

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower tees off today in the first round of a two-week golfing vacation.

Eisenhower arrived at the Augusta National Country Club Thursday after stopping in Washington for a talk with President Johnson.

It is the 44th visit here for the five-star general, his first since suffering a heart attack last November in his cottage on the country club grounds.

A possible Eisenhower goodwill trip to Asia and other parts of the world was discussed during the meeting with Johnson, but Bill D. Moyers, presidential press secretary, said there is nothing definite about the proposal.

Moyers said Johnson and Eisenhower expressed considerable interest in such a mission and that Johnson rates Eisenhower's advice and popularity highly.

The former president did not discuss the proposal on his arrival here.

were unreported from four other counties.

There were several reasons for the slowness of the compilation. For one thing, there was the problem caused by write-in slips which came unstuck and fell down inside voting machines when voters tried to split their ticket.

It is not yet clear how many slips were involved and whether they represent valid votes.

To Use All

Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo has recommended to the local boards of elections that they include in their official counts "all stickers that did not adhere to the paper roll but fell inside the machine."

In New York City, however, the Board of Elections has rejected the recommendation but has directed that such slips be kept until the question is settled.

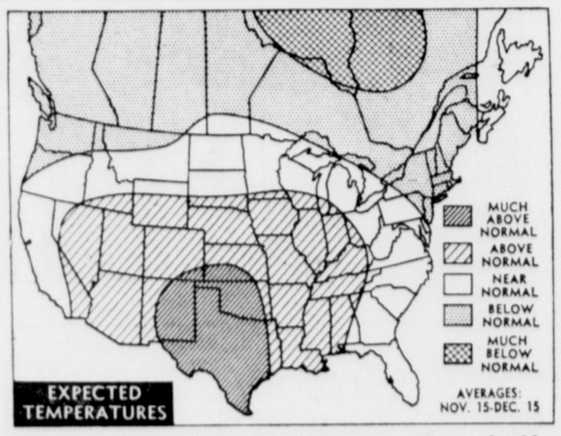

The problem arose from the use of slips of paper by voters who wished to split their at-large tickets rather than endorse one of the full slates offered by the Republican, Democratic, Liberal and Conservative parties.

One Pull Needed

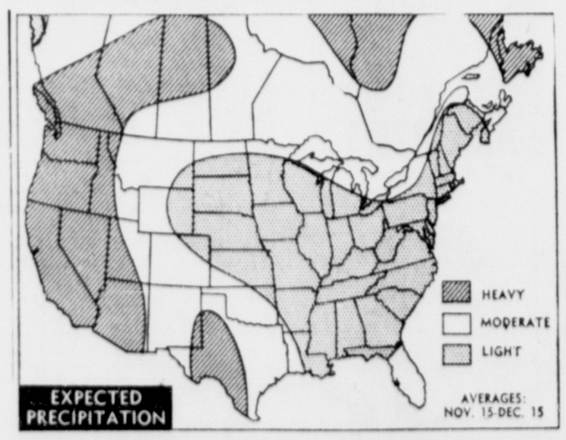

Voting for a full 15-man slate required only the pulling of a single level. To split a ticket, however, the voter had to rip off a slip containing the names of the 15, cross out the ones he did not want and write in his substitutes on the back.

He then had to open a slot and paste the slip on a paper roll. When he pulled the level that opened the curtains, the slip was supposed to move inside the rotating roll. But if it was not applied firmly, it fell to the bottom of the machine.

BPW to Continue Leaves Collection

A second collection of leaves now in progress in the city will continue into next week, Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent noted today.

Collections have been completed in the First, Second, 10th, 11th, 12th wards, and have been started in the Third Ward.

Residents in wards due to have leaves picked up next week are asked to have them ready no later than 7 a. m. Monday. After the second collection is completed leaves intended for collection must be placed in containers.

Cole also noted that after the Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday, Nov. 24, collections of refuse will be a day later than the regular schedule. The Kingston Point refuse disposal site will be closed on the holiday.

Defends Law . . .

quire into a public employe's loyalty, but it has insisted on accompanying safeguards of the employe's constitutional rights.

This is the issue in the current test: Does the New York State law provide sufficient safeguards?

Under Attack

The Feinberg Law now is under attack by five faculty members, past and present, of the State University of New York at Buffalo. Their attorney is Richard Lipsitz of Buffalo, who told the court Thursday the provisions of the state law constitute an invasion of First Amendment rights of free speech and association.

The state, he said, has not shown a "compelling need" to invade these rights. In addition, Lipsitz argued, the State Legislature has made no claim "that any kind of danger to institutions was imminent."

"It appears the embracing of the Marxist doctrine—not the doing of an act—is grounds for discharge," he said.

Miss Iles and Crary, questioned closely by several of the justices, argued that the law does not operate against members of the Communist Party as a group.

Support Explained

"It must be a membership which presumptively supports the organization's illegal objectives which the member individually shares," Crary said.

Attorneys for the state added that membership in the Communist Party leads to the "presumption" that a teacher knowlingly supports violent overthrow of the government.

They added that courts in New York State have provided safeguards because a teacher under question has a chance to show in court that even though he belongs to the party he does not, as an individual, advocate the violent overthrow of government.

The court took the case under advisement and is expected to issue a decision later in the term.

Not Keen on Pricing

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Sugar beet processors are not sweet on an industry-wide pricing system based on a percentage of raw cane sugar prices at the Port of New York.

The fixed-percentage concept was advanced by sugar beet growers during two days of testimony at a U. S. Department of Agriculture hearing called to determine a fair and reasonable price for the 1967 crop.

Currently, prices are determined by a net return system based on the selling price of sugar minus specified sales costs. Prices vary from market to market.

The growers have suggested that a fixed guarantee be applied to all processors at 18½ per cent above raw prices, using the average raw price at the port in New York State.

Columbia County Man Is Drowning Victim

SPENCERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Frank Rundell Jr., 51, was drowned early today when his automobile went into a pond while he was backing down a driveway on his property in this southeast of Albany.

State Police said Rundell apparently accidentally backed into the pond, which was next to the driveway. He died of asphixiation caused by drowning, they said.

Rundell's address was Box 18, County Route 7.
